Sen. Bilbo Clings To Slim Majority Over Four Rivals

Ellis Runs Second; Rep. Rankin Wins Renomination

JACKSON, Miss., July 2 (AP) — Sen. Theo G. Bilbo clung to a slight and dwindling majority over his four opponents late tonight, with more than two thirds of the votes tabulated from Mississippi's first state-wide primary in which negroes were allowed to vote.

The boxes from 1,329 of the state's 1,701 precincts gave him a lead of 771 over his combined opposition, about half that shown by the previous tabulation an hour before.

State Supreme Court Clerk Tom Q. Ellis, who has been running second since the first tabulation, was apparently gaining some ground.

Rankin Is Renominated

Bilbo, the Senate's most aggressive campaigner for white supremacy, had 86,704 votes to 54,270 for Ellis; 16,654 for former Rep. Ross A. Collins; 13,714 for Naval Veteran Nelson T. Levings, and 1,295 for former State Sen. Frank Harper.

In the First congressional district, Rep. John E. Rankin, equally vociferous proponent on Un-American Affairs, apparently had won renomination which is equivalent to election in one-party Mississippi.

Returns from 188 of the 222 precincts gave Rankin 11,916 votes to 8,902 for former Circuit Judge Claude F. Clayton and 1,347 for Charles G. Hamilton. Rankin had 1,640 more than the total of his two opponents.

Tantamount To Election

The Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in Mississippi.

Reps. Arthur Winstead, of the Fifth district, and William M. Colmer, of the Sixth, also were renominated. Winstead had 12,521 votes to 6,624 for J. O. Hollis with 166 of the 302 precincts in, and Colmer led Grover C. Doggette 19,653 to 16,176 with 241 of 340 boxes counted.

In the Seventh district, Rep. Dan R. McGehee faced a second primary. With 224 of the 316 precincts reported, he had 13,119 votes to 10,780 for John Bell Williams, 5,801 for C. A. Sullivan and 3,195 for Stewart C. Broom.

Troops Open Fire On Indian Rioters

AHMEDABAD, India, July 2 (AP)—Troops fired rifles into rioting crowds of Hindus and Moslems in Ahmedabad today to suppress "arson and looting" and the toll in continued communal clashes rose to 33 dead and 250 injured.

Crowds fought with stones and knives in new clashes starting after the lifting of the curfew at 6 a. m.

The 25th Rajputana rifles opened fire at noon to control some "flagrant cases of arson and looting" accompanying the riots, a Bombay provincial communique said.

(One person was reported killed in similar disorders in Monghyr in Eastern India, 250 miles northwest of Calcutta.)

Nineteen persons were killed and 130 injured yesterday in a clash between Moslems and Jains, a sect of dissenters from Hindus, and police fired several times at groups fighting pitched battles and looting shops.

The wave of disorders stemmed from political tension which flared during Hindu religious processions in honor of their god, Jagannath Rath, sometimes called Juggernaut, whom the Hindus revere as lord of the universe.

Girl Says Vet Accused Of Branding Her Told Her He Was "Drunk"

BOSTON, July 2—(AP)—Helen Stavrou, 18-year-old typist, testified today that a Pacific air force veteran told her he "was sorry but he was drunk" when she asked him why he branded her with cigarets.

Attorney Herbert F. Callahan, counsel for Lt. Thomas Farrell, 24-year-old army flier charged with sex offenses and branding and slashing the girl, asked Miss Stavrou:

"Did you ask him (Farrell) why he burned you?"

"Yes," she replied, "he said he was sorry but he was drunk."

It was Miss Stavrou's fifth day on the witness stand, where she once collapsed under questioning shortly after she had bared her breasts to show burn scars to the 12-man jury in the spectator-barred courtroom.

U. S. Would Refer Atom Violations To U. N. Council

Commission Receives American Memorandum On Proposed Treaty

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The United States delegation to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission today for the first time suggested that serious violations of a proposed treaty controlling atomic energy should be referred to the United Nations Security Council.

The American view was in a detailed memorandum on what the treaty should contain which was submitted by Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York investment banker, to the atomic energy commission's Subcommittee No. 1 in the subcommittee's second secret session.

The French representative on the subcommittee, Prof Frederic Joliot-Curie, presented the French views on the proposed treaty in a memorandum handed in at the same time.

"Good Progress"

An authoritative source said the subcommittee was making "good progress." It will meet again Friday at 11 a. m. EDT.

The American memorandum generally followed the outline of the United States plan laid down by Bernard M. Baruch last June 14—until it came to the provisions for enforcement which should be included in a treaty.

There one paragraph suggested that an atomic development authority advocated by the United States to handle all atomic control matters should refer "serious violations to the Security Council of the United Nations."

Byrnes, Bevin Agree "In Principle" To Internationalization

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, July 2—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain agreed "in principle" today to the internationalization of uneasy Trieste and its environs but held out for United Nations control of this strategic area at the head of the Adriatic.

Both American and British informants said United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin maintained that the United Nations should have responsibility for the integrity and administration of the proposed international zone.

Under a Russian and French proposal, the Trieste area would be placed under the Big Four.

Byrnes and Bevin also sought to have the Trieste statute drawn by the 21-nation general European peace conference instead of by the foreign ministers council.

After a four-hour session in sultry summer weather the foreign ministers adjourned without reaching a definite agreement on the future structure of Trieste.

French Proposal

The ministers were to consider later a French proposal requiring the council to submit a Trieste statute to both the peace conference and to the United Nations Security Council in New York for approval. Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of the American delegation, said the ministers did not fix a date for the peace conference at today's session. Byrnes wants the peace conference to open this month.

Informants said both Byrnes and Bevin argued that the four-power ministers council should not attempt to draw the future constitution for the international zone, but should leave this work to the peace conference where, among others, both Italy and Yugoslavia could be heard. Italy and Yugoslavia have made conflicting claims for sovereignty over Trieste.

The council was not expected to give much attention to the public protests made this morning by Yugoslav Deputy Premier Edward Kardelj against the adoption of the

FILM STUDIO WORKERS WILL RETURN TO JOBS

HOLLYWOOD, July 2 (AP) — Settlement was announced tonight of the film studio workers strike.

The announcement followed a joint conference between Byron Price, board chairman of the Motion Picture Association of America, Herbert K. Sorrell, head of the AFL Conference of Studio Unions, which called the strike, and Roy Brewer, representative of a rival AFL union, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes.

Terms of the settlement were not announced by the conferees, who said a statement outlining them would be issued later.

Reports from the conference room indicated that the strikers, who walked off their jobs yesterday, would return to work tomorrow.

The announcement followed a series of clashes at two movie studios between representatives of the rival CSU and IATSE unions, in which a number of men were injured and five were arrested.

Hinrichs Resigns

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — A. Ford Hinrichs, frequently criticized by labor leaders, resigned tonight as acting commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which collects and publishes vital government figures on wages and prices.

Hinrichs, acting commissioner since 1940, when Isador Lubin left, told a news conference he had wanted to quit for some time but had stayed on to block "a bad appointment" as his successor. He declined to name the man in question.

Evidence May Urged Army To Give War Work To "Friends" Is Unearthed

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating committee today unearthed three-year-old evidence that Rep. May (D-Ky) pressed the army to give more war work to his "good friends"—a group of Illinois munitions manufacturers whom Sen. Mead (D-NY) accuses of "war profiteering."

"These fellows are good friends of mine and have been very kind to me in the past about some things and I want to help them if I could," May was quoted as saying in a transcript of a telephone conversation with Maj. Gen. J. H. Campbell, then chief of army ordnance. May is chairman of the House Military committee.

The transcript was read into the records of the Senate committee which is inquiring into the tangled financial structure, complicated operations and wartime profits of 19 closely-linked Illinois concerns which were awarded more than $78,000,000 worth of war contracts.

The committee was told today that the concerns paid large salaries to company officials and their relatives. Four men alone, it was testified, voted themselves $1,380,120 in salaries over a three and one-half year period. The salary figures caused Chairman Mead, of the Senate committee, to charge "war profiteering."

May had no immediate comment tonight on today's developments. Before leaving for Kentucky by train to keep a Fourth of July engagement, he told reporters he would comment "at the appropriate time."

May's conversation centered around a request that Henry Garsson, an official of one of the interlocking corporations, be given additional government orders for the manufacture of shell fuse caps.

May was quoted as telling Campbell that the Batavia Metal Products, Inc., Batavia, Ill., and the Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., Elgin, Ill.—two of the companies under inquiry—"have done an awful good job."

Toll Of Vessels 'Badly Damaged' By A-Bomb Rises

Three More Added To List; Arguments Over Bomb's Power Rage

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Wednesday, July 3 (AP)—The navy today tentatively added three more ships—including the heavy cruiser Salt Lake City—to the "badly damaged" category after Monday's atomic bomb blast in Bikini lagoon, raising that total to nine.

The toll of sunken target vessels stands at five; no more went down since the Sakawa slid under early yesterday.

The destroyers Rhind and Stack were added, with the Salt Lake City, to the badly-damaged list.

Arguments over the power of atomic bombs on ships already were racing today and doubtless will continue for years.

One group argues that the atomic bomb was a failure as a destroyer of surface ships, and that on the basis of the first Bikini test there is still little chance that any drastic change in naval design will be necessary.

Another group holds that the atomic giant did everything expected of it—that it sank the Japanese cruiser Sakawa, the destroyers Anderson and Lampson, and sent two transports to the bottom as well as heavily damaging other ships.

Varying Estimates

This group also points out that this was accomplished despite the fact that the experiment was not intended as a test of the bomb against ships primarily, but as a means of gathering scientific information. They feel that judgment should be suspended until further tests are made.

The fact remains that the air burst of the A-bomb did not crush battleships like paper-mache, nor drive them to the bottom of the lagoon.

Correspondents who watched the explosion were able to make an inspection tour through the target array for the first time Tuesday and got a closeup view of the entire fleet.

Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, air force commander, said at Kwajalein that the operation was "a complete and unqualified success."

BRITISH TORTURED JEWS IN DETENTION CAMP, AGENCY CHARGES

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—The Jewish Agency for Palestine accused Palestine police tonight of using "medieval tortures" agains Jews in the Athlit detention camp near Haifa and asserted Jews were "beaten up, given enemas, and pulled by the sexual organs."

The agency declared some victims "probably will remain crippled for life."

A spokesman for the British colonial office said the office had received no reports of mistreatment, and that "the allegations seem absolutely unfounded."

Athlit houses Jews detained on charges of illegal immigration. There have been no reports that Jews arrested in Saturday's operations in Palestine were taken there.

The agency's statement was made public a few hours after Berl Locker, member of the World Executive Committee of the Jewish agency, charged at a news conference that Jews were being tortured and beaten at Athlit and "another camp." Locker also warned that a civil disobedience campaign might be launched against the British in the Holy Land.

The Jewish agency statement gave no source for its information, but said "it is reported that some of the many detainees at the Athlit camp have been gravely injured by third-degree treatment."

Unions Plan Buyers' Strike in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, July 2 (AP) — About 60 national representatives of unions having locals here voted to hold a "monster mass meeting" in the near future to launch a buyer's strike in protest of the OPA's demise.

Attending the meeting were representatives of AFL, CIO and railroad brotherhood groups.

Officials said the mass meeting would be held in the Fifth regiment armory or one of the public parks and that "every public-spirited Baltimorean will be urged to attend." Sunday was given as a possible date for the protest rally.

The union leaders said they had arranged to meet with Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin and members of the city council tomorrow in the city hall to discuss what steps, if any, the city government could take in preventing evictions.

Truman Calls On WSB Employes To Stay On Job

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—President Truman today called upon all employes of the Wage Stabilization Board to remain at their posts pending a congressional decision on new price control policies.

In a letter to W. Willard Wirtz, chairman of the board, the president recalled that he had made a similar appeal to employes of the Office of Price Administration Saturday night.

He asserted that because the stabilization board draws its funds from the Labor department appropriations and functions under the War Labor Disputes act its financial and administrative position is different from that of OPA.

Novikov Says U. S., Soviet Union Have No Basis For War

Russian Ambassador Is Confident Differences Will Be Solved

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Copyright, 1946, by the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov expressed belief today that "there is no basis whatever for war" between his country and the United States, and declared he was confident all differences between them will be "ironed out."

In his first interview with an American reporter since he presented his credentials to President Truman a month ago, Novikov said with feeling:

"I know this—that the people of the United States do not want to wage a war against th Soviet Union or any other country. I know the Soviet Union will never start a war against the United States or anyone else.

Is Optimistic

"Thus, any differences between us must be ironed out. I believe they will be ironed out.

"To that extent, you might say I am an optimist," Novikov added with a grin. He had been asked if he were optimistic about the world situation and particularly about American-Soviet relations.

However, the ambassador emphasized his belief that solutions for all existing world problems would not be hammered out overnight. Many would require time and patience, he said.

"Europe is now in its most difficult period—the transition from war to peace," he said. "Problems inevitably will be difficult."

Asked how the United States could best assist the Soviet Union in rebuilding areas devastated by German aggression, Novikov said:

Reparations Agreements

"First of all, we wish the Allies, including the United States, would carry out the agreements on reparations from Germany, especially in respect to deliveries from the western areas of Germany to the U. S. S. R. It would facilitate our recon-

Cattle, Hogs Jam Market; Prices Go Up

By The Associated Press

Record-high cattle prices and above-ceiling premiums for hogs brought farmers to the nation's livestock markets in droves yesterday as buyers and sellers groped uncertainly in the confusion left by OPA's end.

This was the situation:

Stocks steadied. Cotton futures fell off. Wool was up. Textiles didn't budge from OPA ceilings and none were offered for sale. Poultry jumped seven to 10 cents a pound.

Flour reappeared at OPA-plus prices but below black market quotations. Cattle hit $22.50. Hogs closed at $17.50—short of yesterday's $18.50 top but above OPA level.

Loss of Subsidies Blamed

Loss of subsidies was blamed for increase in milk, butter, cheese, flour and meat prices in some parts of the country, while others chose to wait and see if Congress would make payments retroactive in the hopedfor resurrection of price controls.

Retail outlets for food, clothing and other staples generally stuck to their pledge to hold prices at the OPA level until Congress has a chance to do something.

Legislation for a substitute system of price control was stalled indefinitely in the Senate. The White House summoned administration leaders for an "anti-inflation" conference.

McCusker Believes OPA Hindered Reconversion

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 2 (AP) — Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker said today, "It's a good thing OPA has passed out of existence. I think Congress would be wrong in resurrecting it."

The state financial expert added, "I think that it has been OPA regulations all along that has hindered a national return to normal economics."

Asked to comment on the effect of a general price rise on Maryland fiscal affairs, McCusker said it would curtail the state's purchasing power but would not increase revenues.

25 Assault, Robbery Charges Filed Against Degnan Kidnaping Suspect

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — Police filed 25 charges of assault and robbery today against William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student whose finger and palm prints, the FBI said, were "identical" to prints on the Suzanne Degnan ransom note.

Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham told a reporter that the state would ask that bond of $15,000 to $25,000 be set on each charge when the youth is arraigned tomorrow in felony court. This would mean a minimum of $375,000 total bond.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy had said previously he would request bond sufficiently high to detain Heirens for further investigation of the kidnap-slaying of the 6-year-old girl last January 7.

Heirens's attorney, Ronald Towle, said no effort would be made to furnish bond on the charges. Earlier today, Chief Justice Harold G. Ward dismissed the youth's petition for freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. Ward ruled after the state announced the charges would be filed later in the day.

Towle, who saw his client briefly today, said the youth knows nothing about the ransom note except that "it was exhibited to him by the police and he was told to copy it." He added that Heirens would plead innocent in felony court tomorrow to the 21 charges.

None of the charges involve the Degnan case. Police asserted the boy had been linked to the robberies by war bonds or other loot found in his living quarters at the University of Chicago.

Heirens has been questioned intermittently about the Degnan case since shortly after his arrest Wednesday night on the North side, where police said he was found prowling in an apartment. He has denied any complicity in the kidnap-killing, which occurred January 7.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said Heirens was named in four charges of assault with intent to

Two Senators Stall Action On Controls

O'Daniel And Wherry Object To Sending Bill To Committee

SEN. MOORE SAYS "WAIT AND SEE"

Barkley Blocks Consideration Of Separate Rent Control Bill

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Stabilization Director Chester Bowles forecast tonight that the cost of living will double within 20 days if commodity prices continue their present rise.

Sen. Moore (R-Okla), foe of a continued OPA in any form, urged the nation at the same time to "wait and see" whether "the prices we are called upon to pay are as bad, or at least any worse, than the black markets under which we have suffered so long," and whether inflation will develop. He added that "Congress is always available for emergency legislation."

These varying views were prepared for the radio at the end of a day which found congressional action on price controls stalled by Sens. O'Daniel (D-Tex) and Wherry (R-Neb) but administration leaders busy behind the scenes seeking to clear the way for a compromise bill.

Bowles Qualifies Forecast

Bowles qualified his prediction of a 100 per cent cost of living hike by saying that he doubts that the prime commodities could continue "under any circumstances" their jump of yesterday, which the Bureau of Labor Statistics put at the index figure of 3.7 per cent.

The bureau reported today's rise on commodity markets at .7 per cent, bringing the price index for 28 basic commodities to 208. Its index for domestic comodities stood at 230.8 compared with 228.4 yesterday.

But Bowles added that "the price and rent increases you read about in your paper yesterday and today are only a taste of what lies ahead if we accept anything less than really effective price and rent control legislation."

Moore said he has read nothing so far "that indicates we will suffer a national collapse or that uncontrolled inflation" will develop and he is convinced there will be none.

"The plain facts," he declared, "is that the administration is a captive of the CIO, which demands complete wartime control of prices as a basis for an overall regimentation of our economy and is willing to use any means at its command to effectuate this un-American, unconstitutional policy."

O'Daniel, Wherry Object

Objections by O'Daniel and Wherry stymied an attempt to start OPA extension legislation through the Senate Banking committee.

Meanwhile the administration leadership blocked consideration of a separate rent control bill in the Senate, as it had done yesterday in

Snyder Says Taxes May Be Increased

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—An increase in tax rates may be asked by the administration next year if there is sharp inflation in prices, suddenly cut loose from control yesterday by expiration of the OPA.

This was disclosed today by the new secretary of the treasury, John W. Snyder, who told his first news conference that consideration was being given to using taxes to break inflation.

"If prices get too far out of hand," Snyder said, the administration may ask an increase in taxes on individuals and corporations when Congress meets after the first of next year.

The anti-inflationary effect would be expected to follow from the sharper tax bite into the spending funds available to individuals and business concerns.

Nevertheless, Snyder gave flat assurance that the administration would propose no new tax levies during 1946.

He expressed hope, however, that the Senate would follow the House's lead in voting for a temporary extension of OPA with its former powers until Congress can act on a new price control bill.

Sorrell, head of the AFL Conference of Studio Unions, which called the strike, and Roy Brewer, representative of a rival AFL union, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes.

Terms of the settlement were not announced by the conferees, who said a statement outlining them would be issued later.

Reports from the conference room indicated that the strikers, who walked off their jobs yesterday, would return to work tomorrow.

The announcement followed a series of clashes at two movie studios between representatives of the rival CSU and IATSE unions, in which a number of men were injured and five were arrested.

Hinrichs Resigns

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — A. Ford Hinrichs, frequently criticized by labor leaders, resigned tonight as acting commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which collects and publishes vital government figures on wages and prices.

Hinrichs, acting commissioner since 1940, when Isador Lubin left, told a news conference he had wanted to quit for some time but had stayed on to block "a bad appointment" as his successor. He declined to name the man in question.

Evidence May Urged Army To Give War Work To "Friends" Is Unearthed

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating committee today unearthed three-year-old evidence that Rep. May (D-Ky) pressed the army to give more war work to his "good friends"—a group of Illinois munitions manufacturers whom Sen. Mead (D-NY) accuses of "war profiteering."

"These fellows are good friends of mine and have been very kind to me in the past about some things and I want to help them if I could," May was quoted as saying in a transcript of a telephone conversation with Maj. Gen. J. H. Campbell, then chief of army ordnance. May is chairman of the House Military committee.

The transcript was read into the records of the Senate committee which is inquiring into the tangled financial structure, complicated operations and wartime profits of 19 closely-linked Illinois concerns which were awarded more than $78,000,000 worth of war contracts.

The committee was told today that the concerns paid large salaries to company officials and their relatives. Four men alone, it was testified, voted themselves $1,380,120 in salaries over a three and one-half year period. The salary figures caused Chairman Mead, of the Senate committee, to charge "war profiteering."

May had no immediate comment tonight on today's developments. Before leaving for Kentucky by train to keep a Fourth of July engagement, he told reporters he would comment "at the appropriate time."

May's conversation centered around a request that Henry Garsson, an official of one of the interlocking corporations, be given additional government orders for the manufacture of shell fuse caps.

May was quoted as telling Campbell that the Batavia Metal Products, Inc., Batavia, Ill., and the Erie Basin Metal Products, Inc., Elgin, Ill.—two of the companies under inquiry—"have done an awful good job."

Truman Calls On WSB Employes To Stay On Job

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—President Truman today called upon all employes of the Wage Stabilization Board to remain at their posts pending a congressional decision on new price control policies.

In a letter to W. Willard Wirtz, chairman of the board, the president recalled that he had made a similar appeal to employes of the Office of Price Administration Saturday night.

He asserted that because the stabilization board draws its funds from the Labor department appropriations and functions under the War Labor Disputes act its financial and administrative position is different from that of OPA.

Toll Of Vessels 'Badly Damaged' By A-Bomb Rises

Three More Added To List; Arguments Over Bomb's Power Rage

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Wednesday, July 3 (AP)—The navy today tentatively added three more ships—including the heavy cruiser Salt Lake City—to the "badly damaged" category after Monday's atomic bomb blast in Bikini lagoon, raising that total to nine.

The toll of sunken target vessels stands at five; no more went down since the Sakawa slid under early yesterday.

The destroyers Rhind and Stack were added, with the Salt Lake City, to the badly-damaged list.

Arguments over the power of atomic bombs on ships already were racing today and doubtless will continue for years.

One group argues that the atomic bomb was a failure as a destroyer of surface ships, and that on the basis of the first Bikini test there is still little chance that any drastic change in naval design will be necessary.

Another group holds that the atomic giant did everything expected of it—that it sank the Japanese cruiser Sakawa, the destroyers Anderson and Lampson, and sent two transports to the bottom as well as heavily damaging other ships.

Varying Estimates

This group also points out that this was accomplished despite the fact that the experiment was not intended as a test of the bomb against ships primarily, but as a means of gathering scientific information. They feel that judgment should be suspended until further tests are made.

The fact remains that the air burst of the A-bomb did not crush battleships like paper-mache, nor drive them to the bottom of the lagoon.

Correspondents who watched the explosion were able to make an inspection tour through the target array for the first time Tuesday and got a closeup view of the entire fleet.

Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, air force commander, said at Kwajalein that the operation was "a complete and unqualified success."

Forrestal, while viewing the dam-

BRITISH TORTURED JEWS IN DETENTION CAMP, AGENCY CHARGES

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—The Jewish Agency for Palestine accused Palestine police tonight of using "medieval tortures" agains Jews in the Athlit detention camp near Haifa and asserted Jews were "beaten up, given enemas, and pulled by the sexual organs."

The agency declared some victims "probably will remain crippled for life."

A spokesman for the British colonial office said the office had received no reports of mistreatment, and that "the allegations seem absolutely unfounded."

Athlit houses Jews detained on charges of illegal immigration. There have been no reports that Jews arrested in Saturday's operations in Palestine were taken there.

The agency's statement was made public a few hours after Berl Locker, member of the World Executive Committee of the Jewish agency, charged at a news conference that Jews were being tortured and beaten at Athlit and "another camp." Locker also warned that a civil disobedience campaign might be launched against the British in the Holy Land.

The Jewish agency statement gave no source for its information, but said "it is reported that some of the many detainees at the Athlit camp have been gravely injured by third-degree treatment."

Unions Plan Buyers' Strike in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, July 2 (AP) — About 60 national representatives of unions having locals here voted to hold a "monster mass meeting" in the near future to launch a buyer's strike in protest of the OPA's demise.

Attending the meeting were representatives of AFL, CIO and railroad brotherhood groups.

Officials said the mass meeting would be held in the Fifth regiment armory or one of the public parks and that "every public-spirited Baltimorean will be urged to attend." Sunday was given as a possible date for the protest rally.

The union leaders said they had arranged to meet with Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin and members of the city council tomorrow in the city hall to discuss what steps, if any, the city government could take in preventing evictions.

Novikov Says U. S., Soviet Union Have No Basis For War

Russian Ambassador Is Confident Differences Will Be Solved

By GRAHAM HOVEY

Copyright, 1946, by the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov expressed belief today that "there is no basis whatever for war" between his country and the United States, and declared he was confident all differences between them will be "ironed out."

In his first interview with an American reporter since he presented his credentials to President Truman a month ago, Novikov said with feeling:

"I know this—that the people of the United States do not want to wage a war against th Soviet Union or any other country. I know the Soviet Union will never start a war against the United States or anyone else.

Is Optimistic

"Thus, any differences between us must be ironed out. I believe they will be ironed out.

"To that extent, you might say I am an optimist," Novikov added with a grin. He had been asked if he were optimistic about the world situation and particularly about American-Soviet relations.

However, the ambassador emphasized his belief that solutions for all existing world problems would not be hammered out overnight. Many would require time and patience, he said.

"Europe is now in its most difficult period—the transition from war to peace," he said. "Problems inevitably will be difficult."

Asked how the United States could best assist the Soviet Union in rebuilding areas devastated by German aggression, Novikov said:

Reparations Agreements

"First of all, we wish the Allies, including the United States, would carry out the agreements on reparations from Germany, especially in respect to deliveries from the western areas of Germany to the U. S. S. R. It would facilitate our recon-

Cattle, Hogs Jam Market; Prices Go Up

[By The Associated Press]

Record-high cattle prices and above-ceiling premiums for hogs brought farmers to the nation's livestock markets in droves yesterday as buyers and sellers groped uncertainly in the confusion left by OPA's end.

This was the situation:

Stocks steadied. Cotton futures fell off. Wool was up. Textiles didn't budge from OPA ceilings and none were offered for sale. Poultry jumped seven to 10 cents a pound.

Flour reappeared at OPA-plus prices but below black market quotations. Cattle hit $22.50. Hogs closed at $17.50—short of yesterday's $18.50 top but above OPA level.

Loss of Subsidies Blamed

Loss of subsidies was blamed for increase in milk, butter, cheese, flour and meat prices in some parts of the country, while others chose to wait and see if Congress would make payments retroactive in the hoped-for resurrection of price controls.

Retail outlets for food, clothing and other staples generally stuck to their pledge to hold prices at the OPA level until Congress has a chance to do something.

Legislation for a substitute system of price control was stalled indefinitely in the Senate. The White House summoned administration leaders for an "anti-inflation" conference.

McCusker Believes OPA Hindered Reconversion

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 2 (AP) — Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker said today, "It's a good thing OPA has passed out of existence. I think Congress would be wrong in resurrecting it."

The state financial expert added, "I think that it has been OPA regulations all along that has hindered a national return to normal economics."

Asked to comment on the effect of a general price rise on Maryland fiscal affairs, McCusker said it would curtail the state's purchasing power but would not increase revenues.

25 Assault, Robbery Charges Filed Against Degnan Kidnaping Suspect

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — Police filed 25 charges of assault and robbery today against William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student whose finger and palm prints, the FBI said, were "identical" to prints on the Suzanne Degnan ransom note.

Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham told a reporter that the state would ask that bond of $15,000 to $25,000 be set on each charge when the youth is arraigned tomorrow in felony court. This would mean a minimum of $375,000 total bond.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy had said previously he would request bond sufficiently high to detain Heirens for further investigation of the kidnap-slaying of the 6-year-old girl last January 7.

Heirens's attorney, Ronald Towle, said no effort would be made to furnish bond on the charges. Earlier today, Chief Justice Harold G. Ward dismissed the youth's petition for freedom on a writ of habeas corpus. Ward ruled after the state announced the charges would be filed later in the day.

Towle, who saw his client briefly today, said the youth knows nothing about the ransom note except that "it was exhibited to him by the police and he was told to copy it." He added that Heirens would plead innocent in felony court tomorrow to the 21 charges.

None of the charges involve the Degnan case. Police asserted the boy had been linked to the robberies by war bonds or other loot found in his living quarters at the University of Chicago.

Heirens has been questioned intermittently about the Degnan case since shortly after his arrest Wednesday night on the North side, where police said he was found prowling in an apartment. He has denied any complicity in the kidnap-killing, which occurred January 7.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said Heirens was named in four charges of assault with intent to

Two Senators Stall Action On Controls

O'Daniel And Wherry Object To Sending Bill To Committee

SEN. MOORE SAYS "WAIT AND SEE"

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Stabilization Director Chester Bowles forecast tonight that the cost of living will double within 20 days if commodity prices continue their present rise.

Sen. Moore (R-Okla), foe of a continued OPA in any form, urged the nation at the same time to "wait and see" whether "the prices we are called upon to pay are as bad, or at least any worse, than the black markets under which we have suffered so long," and whether inflation will develop. He added that "Congress is always available for emergency legislation."

Bowles Qualifies Forecast

Bowles qualified his prediction of a 100 per cent cost of living hike by saying that he doubts that the prime commodities could continue "under any circumstances" their jump of yesterday, which the Bureau of Labor Statistics put at the index figure of 3.7 per cent.

The bureau reported today's rise on commodity markets at .7 per cent, bringing the price index for 28 basic commodities to 206. Its index for domestic comodities stood at 230.8 compared with 228.4 yesterday.

But Bowles added that "the price and rent increases you read about in your paper yesterday and today are only a taste of what lies ahead if we accept anything less than really effective price and rent control legislation."

Moore said he has read nothing so far "that indicates we will suffer a national collapse or that uncontrolled inflation" will develop and he is convinced there will be none.

"The plain facts," he declared, "is that the administration is a captive of the CIO, which demands complete wartime control of prices as a basis for an overall regimentation of our economy and is willing to use any means at its command to effectuate this un-American, unconstitutional policy."

O'Daniel, Wherry Object

Objections by O'Daniel and Wherry stymied an attempt to start OPA extension legislation through the Senate Banking committee.

Meanwhile the administration leadership blocked consideration of a separate rent control bill in the Senate, as it had done yesterday in

Snyder Says Taxes May Be Increased

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—An increase in tax rates may be asked by the administration next year if there is sharp inflation in prices, suddenly cut loose from control yesterday by expiration of the OPA.

This was disclosed today by the new secretary of the treasury, John W. Snyder, who told his first news conference that consideration was being given to using taxes to break inflation.

"If prices get too far out of hand," Snyder said, the administration may ask an increase in taxes on individuals and corporations when Congress meets after the first of next year.

The anti-inflationary effect would be expected to follow from the sharper tax bite into the spending funds available to individuals and business concerns.

Nevertheless, Snyder gave flat assurance that the administration would propose no new tax levies during 1946.

He expressed hope, however, that the Senate would follow the House's lead in voting for a temporary extension of OPA with its former powers until Congress can act on a new price control bill.

LOCAL STOCKYARDS HAVE RECORD SALES

The Cumberland Stockyards experienced the biggest buying spree in its history yesterday, but Arthur Hoffa, president, said prices stayed well within reason.

Hoffa, said proceeds of the day reached between $15,000 and $20,000 with beef cattle, lambs and calves leading in the day's sales. The extremely large stock supply and increased buying was attributed by Hoffa to the discontinuance of OPA but he stressed the fact that prices remained within reason. "They may have gone a cent or two above the recent OPA ceiling," Hoffa explained, "but there certainly was no runaway buying."

Largest selling commodity was between 140 to 150 beef cattle, according to Hoffa, with 60 coming from the west and the others from local farms.

Other livestock on sale in the yards yesterday included 100 lambs, 50 calves and about 25 or 30 hogs.

Hoffa said that the sales of previous months usually ran around $10,000. The next stock sale in the Cumberland yards will take place Saturday morning, but the president wouldn't venture a guess on the market.

Chickens, milking cows and horses also sold well on the market yesterday, Hoffa said, and even some second hand furniture moved better than usual.

Yugoslav Position

Such protests, it was felt, can best be raised at the 21-nation peace conference where Yugoslavia will be represented.

As far as this council itself is concerned, the Yugoslav position already has been fully stated by Kardelj himself in a lengthy session during the April-May meetings, conference informants pointed out. At that time, the council heard spokesmen for both Italy and Yugoslavia.

Kardelj told newspapermen today that his government could not accept the French line. He said he had proposed a compromise frontier line between his country and Italy to Byrnes during a meeting this morning at the American's hotel.

Kardelj said he had proposed a line which ran somewhere between the proposed Russian and French lines. He did not trace his proposed line in detail for newspapermen, nor did he give any indication of Byrnes's reaction to it.

Order Restored In Trieste

TRIESTE, July 2—(AP)—Order was restored today in this strike-paralyzed city after three days of rioting in which one person was killed and 45 injured, but the atmosphere remained tense.

British and United States troops were kept on the alert to quell any new outbreaks.

Military authorities, fearing new clashes between Communists and pro-Italian sympathizers, denied permission to the Italo-Slav strike committee to hold a mass demonstration in connection with a funeral procession for a Communist worker who was shot to death Sunday night.

Transportation was still halted and most stores and businesses were closed by a general strike of 200,000 workers, called yesterday in connection with the riots.

age to the heavier ships as relatively unimportant, observed that such ships are "difficult to sink unless they sustain underwater damage." He warned against hasty conclusions but expressed the opinion "there still will be navies in the future."

Underwater Test Coming

Another atomic bomb is to be set off under water in the lagoon, probably within three or four weeks, to test the destructive power of the blast transmitted by water to the hulls of ships.

While viewing Monday's test as a complete success, Gen. Ramey said it was "by no means a test of airpower against the navy" but a demonstration of the "flexibility of air power and atomic power."

One big question still remained unanswered: Could crewmen have lived through the blast?

Scientists hoped to get an answer to that question by observing the effects of rays upon surviving test animals. Animals survived aboard all ships so far visited by the press boat, but a complete animal census has not been made.

Busy Day in Grain Market

In Chicago's grain market, the busiest day since last fall's crop movement saw dealers booking 1,000,000 bushels of corn of a "to-arrive" basis at $2.15 a bushel—10 cents above the old OPA top.

Orders contained a cancellation clause in case OPA is revived.

Wool futures were on the rise again but cotton fell off $1.80 to $2.40 a bale. In the cotton textile and wood goods markets, however, most mills refused to offer goods for sale and prices clung to OPA lines despite insistent buyer pressure.

Tagging along behind the boom in hogs and cattle, poultry prices jumped between seven and 10 cents a pound in Chicago and New York.

French Memorandum

When the American plan first was outlined, it was said authoritatively that a study was being made as to how violations would be punished—but that under no circumstances should any veto apply in any control scheme. The Americans also have maintained that any international control must have "teeth in it."

There was no announcement after the secret session elaborating on the brief paragraph in the long memorandum.

The brief French memorandum favored a special international controlling authority but provided that it should be established by the United Nations General Assembly.

The French would have the authority reporting to the security council on breaches of rules which it would have been able to detect.

REPAIRS SOUGHT FOR FAIRGO ROAD

A request for repairs to Fairgo road, leading from McMullen highway to the local race track, was filed with the board of county commissioners yesterday by Clifton C. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association. White wants the work done before the August racing meet.

Shoulders are needed on each side of the road, White said, because the heavy traffic creates a hazard with persons walking on the narrow strip. The request was referred to John H. Carscaden, county engineer, for investigation.

John Evans, Lonaconing, requested that a roller be rented to complete patching work on the streets of the town.

A tax abatement for 1946 was granted the trustees of the Grace Baptist church on street lots owned by the church.

Robert L. Winfeld requested the board to have the Knob road repaired. The short road connects the Bedford and Valley roads, and is in terrible condition, Winfield said.

The local board was notified that a school for assessors will be held July 8 to 12 at the University of Maryland. Wilton T. Allen, supervisor of assessments for Montgomery county and president of the State Association of Assessing officers asked if the Allegany assessors would attend. No decision was given.

Williams And York Win Prizes Of $100 In "Homer" Contest

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Thumping Ted Williams, currently tied with Detroit's Hank Greenberg for the major league leadership in home runs, staged a fancy exhibition of "homer hitting" tonight before a capacity crowd of some 65,000 fans prior to the regular New York Yankee-Boston Red Sox arc-light clash.

In a special 10-man clouting contest, with a prize of $100 awarded to each righthanded and lefthanded hitter who banged the most fair balls out of six swings into the stands, Lefty Williams walked off with the honors by banging four of batting practice pitcher Paul Schrieber's pitches into the stands. Two traveled more than 400 feet into the upper right-field stands, one went into the lower right field stands and another travelled 450 feet into the center field bleachers.

Rudy York, another Red Sox swatter, copped the prize for right-handed hitters. The slugging first-sacker banged two balls into the left field stands to top teammates Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio who had one.

the House, seeking to tie in this generally-approved provision with other curbs which face opposition, all in a single measure.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) sought to get the banking committe to act immediately on a rent control bill which Sen. Byrd (D-Va) introduced yesterday. But Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) hastened from the floor to the committee room to oppose it and Capehart held off.

Downtown, meanwhile, the second day of the OPA's wake found officials conferring on anti-inflation measures and warning of grave consequeices in many fields if price controls are not revived:

1—Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, in another news conference, predicted the costs of home building will jump at least 14 to 25 per cent unless the OPA is revived. He appealed to producers of building materials to retain ceiling prices voluntarily until Congress acts one way or the other, and said that subsidy payments will remain in effect at least through July

2—Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson told newsmen that price increases here will cause economic difficulties abroad. He also reiterated that the end of OPA meat and grain price controls will hamper the famine relief program.

Surplus Property Prices Same

3—Lt. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, war assets administrator, announced that prices on surplus property will stay put on the assumption that the dealers who purchase it will abide by OPA ceilings.

4—The Civilian Production Administration acted to protect vital construction and reconversion activities now that price controls are off. It ruled that suppliers may not charge higher prices to priority holders than to other purchasers and that if the supplier makes a general price increase he must give the priority holders a week in which to accept. The order is designed to keep producers of luxury goods from bidding up prices on materials.

5—The OPA announced that retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers must preserve until July 1, 1947, the records they were required to keep under price regulations. The agency has been authorized to prosecute price violations which occurred before the law expired at midnight June 30.

6—The Office of International Trade said it is studying the effect on exports of the end of price controls and that export license controls will be restored if necessary to prevent "any serious drain of critical United States supplies not now under control."

7—William Green, president of the AFL, made public a telegram to senators asserting that "labor unrest, discontent and perhaps strikes will take place throughout the nation in event prices continue to mount." He urged immediate "temporary price control legislation, at least."

He said deliveries of industrial reparations from the western occupation zones to Russia—now halted entirely—had amounted to little, so far as Soviet rehabilitation purposes were concerned.

Some devastated Soviet areas, particularly the Ukraine, could make good use of equipment from plants in the western zones having to do with manufacture of iron, steel and related products, he added.

Approve Principles For Jap Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — The Far Eastern Commission today approved unanimously a set of "basic principles" for a new Japanese constitution.

The document has been sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, presumably for comparison with a constitution presented to the Japanese Legislature by Emperor Hirohito early this year and indorsed by MacArthur.

Members of the commission—11-nation allied policy-making body for Japan—declined to disclose details of the policy documents. One official said it had been agreed to keep the principles confidential until MacArthur has been consulted.

House Group Okays Atom Control Bill

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The House Military committee placed its final approval today on a bill admitting the military to domestic atomic energy control and sent it to the floor. The vote in closed session was reported as 24 to 3.

Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif) immediately told reporters she will move to substitute for it the original McMahon bill passed by the Senate which provides for an all-civilian control commission, as approved by the president and the armed services. She claimed the support of a large group of colleagues.

The committee's bill would require the president to select one member of the control commission from the military, and would authorize him to appoint a second military representative if he sees fit. It also specifies that the president may direct the commission to permit the army and navy to operate freely in the field of atomic weapons.

In other provisions, the House committee followed generally the action of the Senate.

C. A. Appel Appeals Drunken Driving Case

Found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, C. A. Appel, West First street, was fined $100 and cost yesterday morning in trial magistrates court, but indicated he would appeal the case at the October term of Circuit Court.

In his testimony, Appel said he had been working Friday night, and nervousness resulting from a hit-run crash caused him to become unnerved. He denied that he had been drinking.

Officer L. H. Chambers, testified that he was on duty at the intersection of Oldtown road and Maryland avenue Saturday morning and he found Appel slumped over the wheel endeavoring to move his car. Chambers said he heard no crash.

Police said Appel "tied up" traffic when he attempted to move the car. A charge of reckless driving was dismissed.

LOCAL STOCKYARDS HAVE RECORD SALES

The Cumberland Stockyards experienced the biggest buying spree in its history yesterday, but Arthur Hoffa, president, said prices stayed well within reason.

Hoffa, said proceeds of the day reached between $15,000 and $20,000 with beef cattle, lambs and calves leading in the day's sales. The extremely large stock supply and increased buying was attributed by Hoffa to the discontinuance of OPA but he stressed the fact that prices remained within reason. "They may have gone a cent or two above the recent OPA ceiling," Hoffa explained, "but there certainly was no runaway buying."

Largest selling commodity was between 140 to 150 beef cattle, according to Hoffa, with 60 coming from the west and the others from local farms.

Other livestock on sale in the yards yesterday included 100 lambs, 50 calves and about 25 or 30 hogs.

Hoffa said that the sales of previous months usually ran around $10,000. The next stock sale in the Cumberland yards will take place Saturday morning, but the president wouldn't venture a guess on the market.

Chickens, milking cows and horses also sold well on the market yesterday, Hoffa said, and even some second hand furniture moved better than usual.

Yugoslav Position

Such protests, it was felt, can best be raised at the 21-nation peace conference where Yugoslavia will be represented.

As far as this council itself is concerned, the Yugoslav position already has been fully stated by Kardelj himself in a lengthy session during the April-May meetings, conference informants pointed out. At that time, the council heard spokesmen for both Italy and Yugoslavia.

Kardelj told newspapermen today that his government could not accept the French line. He said he had proposed a compromise frontier line between his country and Italy to Byrnes during a meeting this morning at the American's hotel.

Kardelj said he had proposed a line which ran somewhere between the proposed Russian and French lines. He did not trace his proposed line in detail for newspapermen, nor did he give any indication of Byrnes's reaction to it.

Order Restored In Trieste

TRIESTE, July 2—(AP)—Order was restored today in this strike-paralyzed city after three days of rioting in which one person was killed and 45 injured, but the atmosphere remained tense.

British and United States troops were kept on the alert to quell any new outbreaks.

Military authorities, fearing new clashes between Communists and pro-Italian sympathizers, denied permission to the Italo-Slav strike committee to hold a mass demonstration in connection with a funeral procession for a Communist worker who was shot to death Sunday night.

Transportation was still halted and most stores and businesses were closed by a general strike of 200,000 workers, called yesterday in connection with the riots.

age to the heavier ships as relatively unimportant, observed that such ships are "difficult to sink unless they sustain underwater damage." He warned against hasty conclusions but expressed the opinion "there still will be navies in the future."

Underwater Test Coming

Another atomic bomb is to be set off under water in the lagoon, probably within three or four weeks, to test the destructive power of the blast transmitted by water to the hulls of ships.

While viewing Monday's test as a complete success, Gen. Ramey said it was "by no means a test of airpower against the navy" but a demonstration of the "flexibility of air power and atomic power."

One big question still remained unanswered: Could crewmen have lived through the blast?

Scientists hoped to get an answer to that question by observing the effects of rays upon surviving test animals. Animals survived aboard all ships so far visited by the press boat, but a complete animal census has not been made.

Busy Day in Grain Market

In Chicago's grain market, the busiest day since last fall's crop movement saw dealers booking 1,000,000 bushels of corn of a "to-arrive" basis at $2.15 a bushel—10 cents above the old OPA top.

Orders contained a cancellation clause in case OPA is revived.

Wool futures were on the rise again but cotton fell off $1.80 to $2.40 a bale. In the cotton textile and wood goods markets, however, most mills refused to offer goods for sale and prices clung to OPA lines despite insistent buyer pressure.

Tagging along behind the boom in hogs and cattle, poultry prices jumped between seven and 10 cents a pound in Chicago and New York.

French Memorandum

When the American plan first was outlined, it was said authoritatively that a study was being made as to how violations would be punished—but that under no circumstances should any veto apply in any control scheme. The Americans also have maintained that any international control must have "teeth in it."

There was no announcement after the secret session elaborating on the brief paragraph in the long memorandum.

The brief French memorandum favored a special international controlling authority but provided that it should be established by the United Nations General Assembly.

The French would have the authority reporting to the security council on breaches of rules which it would have been able to detect.

REPAIRS SOUGHT FOR FAIRGO ROAD

A request for repairs to Fairgo road, leading from McMullen highway to the local race track, was filed with the board of county commissioners yesterday by Clifton C. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association. White wants the work done before the August racing meet.

Shoulders are needed on each side of the road, White said, because the heavy traffic creates a hazard with persons walking on the narrow strip. The request was referred to John H. Carscaden, county engineer, for investigation.

John Evans, Lonaconing, requested that a roller be rented to complete patching work on the streets of the town.

Robert L. Winfield requested the board to have the Knob road repaired. The short road connects the Bedford and Valley roads, and is in terrible condition, Winfield said.

The local board was notified that a school for assessors will be held July 8 to 12 at the University of Maryland. Wilton T. Allen, supervisor of assessments for Montgomery county and president of the State Association of Assessing officers asked if the Allegany assessors would attend. No decision was given.

Williams And York Win Prizes Of $100 In "Homer" Contest

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Thumping Ted Williams, currently tied with Detroit's Hank Greenberg for the major league leadership in home runs, staged a fancy exhibition of "homer hitting" tonight before a capacity crowd of some 65,000 fans prior to the regular New York Yankee-Boston Red Sox arc-light clash.

In a special 10-man clouting contest, with a prize of $100 awarded to each righthanded and lefthanded hitter who banged the most fair balls out of six swings into the stands, Lefty Williams walked off with the honors by banging four of batting practice pitcher Paul Schrieber's pitches into the stands. Two traveled more than 400 feet into the upper right-field stands, one went into the lower right field stands and another travelled 450 feet into the center field bleachers.

PITTSBURGH, July 2 (AP)—Cleve Bailey, 164, New York, took a unanimous decision over Carmen DeJohn, 165, of Buffalo, tonight in one of four eight-rounders at Zivic Arena.

Sammy Schipani, 138, of Pittsburgh, decisioned Leo Garrett, 140, of Cleveland; and Charley Daniels, 150, Pittsburgh, took a decision over Garrett, 153, of Swissvale, Pa.

Lincoln Relic To Go to Australia

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)P— Indiana will contriute a foundation stone from the log cabin where Abraham Lincoln lived in Spencer county in his boyhood to Anzac house, World War II memorial to be erected in Brisbane, Australia.

Gov. Ralph F. Gates, along with the governors of other states, received a request for a token stone from Indiana to be placed in that part of Anzac house to be dedicated to United States forces which served in the Australian theater.

The governor arranged with the Indiana Historical bureau and the state department of Conservation to provide the stone.

Allegany Native Dies

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., July 2 (AP) — Miss Mary Ellen Doran, 87, who had been associated with the general merchandise business here for many years, died last night. She had been ill for three weeks.

Miss Doran was a native of Allegany county, and came here with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Doran, when she was six.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning from St. Peter's Catholic church, Harper's Ferry, with burial in the church cemetery.

the House, seeking to tie in this generally-approved provision with other curbs which face opposition, all in a single measure.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) sought to get the banking committe to act immediately on a rent control bill which Sen. Byrd (D-Va) introduced yesterday. But Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) hastened from the floor to the committee room to oppose it and Capehart held off.

Downtown, meanwhile, the second day of the OPA's wake found officials conferring on anti-inflation measures and warning of grave consequeices in many fields if price controls are not revived:

1—Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, in another news conference, predicted the costs of home building will jump at least 14 to 25 per cent unless the OPA is revived. He appealed to producers of building materials to retain ceiling prices voluntarily until Congress acts one way or the other, and said that subsidy payments will remain in effect at least through July

2—Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson told newsmen that price increases here will cause economic difficulties abroad. He also reiterated that the end of OPA meat and grain price controls will hamper the famine relief program.

Surplus Property Prices Same

3—Lt. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, war assets administrator, announced that prices on surplus property will stay put on the assumption that the dealers who purchase it will abide by OPA ceilings.

4—The Civilian Production Administration acted to protect vital construction and reconversion activities now that price controls are off. It ruled that suppliers may not charge higher prices to priority holders than to other purchasers and that if the supplier makes a general price increase he must give the priority holders a week in which to accept. The order is designed to keep producers of luxury goods from bidding up prices on materials.

5—The OPA announced that retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers must preserve until July 1, 1947, the records they were required to keep under price regulations. The agency has been authorized to prosecute price violations which occurred before the law expired at midnight June 30.

6—The Office of International Trade said it is studying the effect on exports of the end of price controls and that export license controls will be restored if necessary to prevent "any serious drain of critical United States supplies not now under control."

7—William Green, president of the AFL, made public a telegram to senators asserting that "labor unrest, discontent and perhaps strikes will take place throughout the nation in event prices continue to mount." He urged immediate "temporary price control legislation, at least."

Appointments Made

ANNAPOLIS, July 2 (AP) — Thomas Elmo Jones, former Maryland secretary of state, was appointed a member of the Public Service Commission, by Governor O'Conor to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Chairman Steuart Purcell.

At the same time, the governor announced the appointment of Charles B. Bosley, associate member of the commission since 1942, chairman of the group.

Soap Box Derby Planned in Keyser

KEYSER, July 2.—Plans for Keyser's 1946 Soap Box Derby, to be held here Wednesday, July 24, are progressing, Clyde Gardner, chairman of the derby committee, announced last evening.

Three "Soap Box Derby" movies will be shown in Keyser high school auditorium Wednesday at 8 p. m. Members of the committee will be on hand to explain the contest to prospective contestants and their parents.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the same movies will be shown at Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont, for entrants from Piedmont, Westernport and Luke.

The winner of the contest will be eligible for the national contest to be held August 18 in Akron. Due to war conditions, no national contest has been held since 1941.

Members of the committee report that more than usual interest is being shown in the current contest which is open to boys from 11 to 15 of Mineral county, W. Va., and Westernport and Luke in Maryland.

Approve Principles For Jap Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — The Far Eastern Commission today approved unanimously a set of "basic principles" for a new Japanese constitution.

The document has been sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, presumably for comparison with a constitution presented to the Japanese Legislature by Emperor Hirohito early this year and indorsed by MacArthur.

Members of the commission—11 nation allied policy-making body for Japan—declined to disclose details of the policy documents. One official said it had been agreed to keep the principles confidential until MacArthur has been consulted.

In The Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Sallie M. Maley by her mother, next Friend, Myrtle Davis vs. James O. Maley, No. 19365 Equity.

The Object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce by the plaintiff from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the plaintiff and the defendant were married on the 24th day of March, 1943 at Cumberland, Maryland, and thereafter, the parties resided together until on or about June 1, 1943; that ever since the marriage of the plaintiff to the defendant she has behaved herself as a faithful, chaste and affectionate wife, and her conduct has always been above reproach; that on or about June 1, 1943, the defendant without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff; that said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months before the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case, and that said abandonment and desertion was deliberate and final on the defendant's part, and that the separation of the parties hereto is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation; that no children were born of the marriage of the parties; that the plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland for more than one year, and that the defendant was a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his exact address is unknown although believed to be in the State of Ohio.

It is thereupon Ordered this 18th. day of June, 1946, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 20th. day of July, 1946, giving notice of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint to the said absent non-resident defendant warning him to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 5th. day of August, 1946, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

House Group Okays Atom Control Bill

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The House Military committee placed its final approval today on a bill admitting the military to domestic atomic energy control and sent it to the floor. The vote in closed session was reported as 24 to 3.

Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif) immediately told reporters she will move to substitute for it the original McMahon bill passed by the Senate which provides for an all-civilian control commission, as approved by the president and the armed services. She claimed the support of a large group of colleagues.

The committee's bill would require the president to select one member of the control commission from the military, and would authorize him to appoint a second military representative if he sees fit. It also specifies that the president may direct the commission to permit the army and navy to operate freely in the field of atomic weapons.

In other provisions, the House committee followed generally the action of the Senate.

C. A. Appel Appeals Drunken Driving Case

Found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, C. A. Appel, West First street, was fined $100 and cost yesterday morning in trial magistrates court, but indicated he would appeal the case at the October term of Circuit Court.

In his testimony, Appel said he had been working Friday night, and nervousness resulting from a hit-run crash caused him to become unnerved. He denied that he had been drinking.

Officer L. H. Chambers, testified that he was on duty at the intersection of Oldtown road and Maryland avenue Saturday morning and he found Appel slumped over the wheel endeavoring to move his car. Chambers said he heard no crash.

Police said Appel "tied up" traffic when he attempted to move the car. A charge of reckless driving was dismissed.

PITTSBURGH, July 2. (AP)—Most of the soft coal mines in the nation will be closed July 4 to 7, giving employes a four-day vacation, as provided in the contract between the government, which is now operating the mines, and the AFL-United Mine Workers.

term. The increase can't become effective until the following Monday.

Written Notice Required

"Of course, all of this isn't going to prevent local rents from going up, but it is going to prolong the present rates," the chief clerk said. Another thing local landlords are overlooking is the fact that the notice must be served in writing, otherwise tenants can deny that they were notified there was to be an increase, Lewis added.

Another thing that disturbs Lewis is that some home owners want present tenants to move out. "They come in here," Lewis said, "and have a notice to quit tenancy prepared, then ask that a note be tacked on at the bottom informing the tenants that the rent will be raised if they are not out by the given time. I sure wish they would make up their minds as to which notice they want served."

Unwed Mother's Life Is Tangle; Requests Advice

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Here is a girl who wants to do right by her illegitimate child, and wants, too, to find more happiness in life than she has yet had. But her life is such a tangle that she doesn't know how to begin to unravel it.

She writes:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a girl 19, and very unhappy. I am an unwed mother of a year-old son, and he is the sweetest baby any mother would want to have. In fact, many people do want him, but although I realize it will be hard for me to bring him up, I love him too much to let anyone else have him. Do you blame me for sticking to him?

"I also have another unhappy problem to solve. I am in love with a man twenty-seven years older than I am, and he loves me much more than I really love him. But he is not free to marry me. He is a very nice person, and I feel he would give me and my son anything that I asked for, and all I ask is to have a home for my boy and to know that I will not be beaten and carry black eyes, as I do at home with my parents.

"My parents are very unreasonable. I'm not allowed any privileges. I can't have friends of any kind, male or female. I'm afraid to speak to anyone because if I talk to anyone my mother wants to know every word that was said. It is not only because I have had the baby that my parents are mean. They were always like that toward me. But not toward the rest of the family. They always take up for my brothers. I wish I had a sister, like most other girls do.

"I have one real friend I can trust, besides this man I've already told you about. He wants me to wait a little while to see how things turn out for him, and if they go the way he wants them to, he will take me away from here.

"Do you think you could tell me what to do? Could you tell me of some place to go with my baby? I am willing to do any kind of work to get a home of some kind for myself and my baby. Should I wait for this man who is also looking for a change to the good of life?

"I. D. R."

I certainly do not blame you for sticking to your baby, and I am glad that you have the character to do so.

If you think that either of the men you mention is the type to make you a good husband and the baby a good foster-father, and if you think they are sincere in their intentions toward you, and, finally, if the chances are that they will be free, eventually, to offer you marriage and a home, then I think you might well make up your mind which one you want to wait for, and plan toward that end.

But in the meantime, it seems as though your best plan would be to go away from your parents' home and make your own way, as you suggest. Whatever their reasons for their behavior toward you, there is no sense in staying where you are mistreated, if you can make other and wiser arrangements.

Of course, as you realize yourself, it will not be easy for you to find a place to work where you can keep the baby with you. But it might be possible for you to arrange to have the baby cared for temporarily while you are getting on your feet. You would have a much wider choice of work, with the baby off your hands for the time being, and I am sure that, with your unfortunate experiences behind you, you would not again let yourself be drawn into a dead-end romance.

If you would care to write and give me your name and address, so that I can send you a personal letter, I will try to make more definite suggestions about possible work opportunities.

Delay In Election Results Deplorable

The Maryland primary election was held a week ago yesterday but it was nearly seventy-two hours later before some of the winners emerged from the shower of ballots. Part of this delay was due to failure of officials of polling places to report the results to newspapers after tabulation was completed hours after the polls closed, because lengthy ballots always make the count slow. Many hours are required to complete the tabulation, leaving officials exhausted after their long day, and we are inclined to consider the failure to report the results in that light rather than being due to inefficiency, or perhaps indifference.

It has been suggested that a law be enacted requiring election clerks to post complete returns outside each polling place after tabulation is completed, such as is the required custom in many states. We hope the members of the Allegany delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates and Senate will keep this in mind and make every effort to have a statewide bill enacted making such duties compulsory. Failing in that, then to have a measure passed covering Allegany county and as many of the other political divisions in the state that wish to be included.

But even that will not speed up the count, and the long wait for returns experienced in every election is a convincing argument in favor of voting machines. They are badly needed and are needed now. The Allegany county commissioners have had the matter under consideration since early Spring. A survey of the number required has been made, the cost arrived at and delayed payments for them gone into. The commissioners, at that time, indicated they would be purchased in the near future so that they might be in operation for the general election in November. The opinion has been expressed the machines would soon pay for themselves, and thereafter save the taxpayers money, but best of all they would make it possible for election returns to be tabulated promptly and enable the public to have the results of an election without undergoing long delays.

Statistics show the average baby cries 113 minutes a day. But Gus Brust of the NEWS staff says they are the longest minutes, if they occur between 12 midnight and 6 a. m., the time his twin boys do most of their crying.

Marshall Faces Problem In China

That General Marshall has a sizeable Chinese puzzle on his hands in endeavoring to reconcile the warring factions of China has long been apparent. The difficulties of his problem recently were highlighted in a Nanking dispatch about a proposal he had received from the Chinese communists for the reorganization of China's army, the final, crucial issue standing in the way of peace. Included in their demands was a requirement that "all areas liberated by the communists remain in communist hands."

A pertinent slant on communist "liberation" is provided by a dispatch from Tokyo. Chairman George C. Atcheson Jr. told the Allied Council for Japan that Russia was violating the Potsdam surrender terms by failing to repatriate Japanese captured in Manchuria. He revealed that 93 per cent of disarmed Japanese had been repatriated from U. S.-controlled areas, 68 per cent from British areas and 94 per cent from Chinese areas, excluding Manchuria. Soviet repatriation of Japanese troops in Manchuria was exactly nothing.

American news correspondents in Manchuria last February drew from the Red army commander at Mukden the statement that disarmed Japanese troops in his area had been entrained to work projects in Siberia. "To have and to hold" appears to be the Soviet principle of liberation for occupied Manchuria, and Chinese communists forces are following the pattern. Their proposal to General Marshall that all areas they have "liberated" remain in their hands is typical.

Thus, where Russian troops have stripped Russia's industrial potential and enslaved disarmed Japanese troops as reparations, Soviet "security" would be further assured by Chinese communist control. The communist faction in China is more intent on providing for Soviet interests than on cooperating with General Marshall for peace in China.

General Marshall's position has become further complicated by demands for the withdrawal of United States for "the outbreak and propagation of civil war in this country." Dr. Tao Heng-chi, spokesman for 54 anti-civil war groups in Shanghai, told a press conference: "I am inclined to think Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek wants civil war," and that reactionary supporters of the generalissimo desired it as their one chance of retaining power. All of which has a familiar sound. Wherever opposition is raised to communist entrenchment, "fascism" is to blame.

By the same token, General Marshall is in China to promote fascism, and American forces supporting him in China are responsible for civil war and should go home, leaving China to communist control.

The situation in China would be bewildering enough if it were not paralleled the world over, wherever the Allies, striving for peace, are confronted by the problem of Soviet expansion for the postwar "security" of Russia.

France, where the cigaret is reported to be the principal medium of exchange, will be in serious difficulty if the fag ever is outlawed, as it was in Kansas following World War I.

Charges Against RFC Unexpected

To most Americans the accusation of Comptroller General Warren that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is guilty of "confused" accounting and bookkeeping practices comes as something of a shock. The big lending agency, the greatest government-operated credit agency in the world, has long enjoyed the full confidence and respect of the public. Operated along business-like lines that have enabled it to show a consistent profit, the RFC has been almost immune from the storms of criticism which have whirled around other federal agencies.

Mr. Warren, as head of the general accounting office, has now preferred charges which, to a lay public unfamiliar with the mysteries of accounting practice, are certain to have an ominous sound. He asserts that the RFC lacks accounting control of seven billion dollars invested in its properties and its 800 million investment in subsidiary companies and that it does not control its cash receipts on certain important liabilities.

Because of these alleged faulty practices, Mr. Warren contends, GAO auditors have been unable to determine the amounts actually invested in individual plant properties nor "to ascertain what profits have actually been earned or losses incurred by the RFC through the disposition of" plant properties held by the Defense Plants Corporation.

How seriously at fault the accounting practices of the RFC actually are is something for the experts in this field to determine. Charles B. Henderson, chairman of the board of the RFC, asserts nothing in the report shows that the government had suffered losses, or that "irregularities" had occurred. The question so far is whether its accounting methods are proper or adequate, and this is something which Congress must now carefully investigate.

The domestic totalitarians are again talking of rationing meat. If they start rationing it in October, that should have the effect of separating a lot of them from the payroll in November.

Vets Find Doors Of Colleges Closed

Nobody needs to tell individual veterans that it is hard to get into college but it comes as a surprise to learn from Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine that as many as 300,000 of them "will be turned away this fall." This dismal prospect, which all hope will not be realized, is no doubt a matter of as much concern to the colleges as it is to the returning soldiers.

What can be done about the situation? Unfortunately, he possibilities are limited. The institutions of learning have only so many dormitories and classrooms and so much equipment. They were unable to add to their facilities during the war and they do not now enjoy any special priorities in the matter of new construction. It is not fair to the colleges and even less fair to students already enrolled to insist that more men be admitted than can be adequately housed and trained.

The colleges are aware of the problem and eager to find the solution. Many of them have erected huts and other temporary units on their campuses and are using classrooms which are no longer suited to that purpose.

Sympathy for the disappointed veterans is as widespread as it is genuine. Unfortunately, that does not do them any good. It is infinitely less than they deserve.

A new army cloth is said to be so tough that glancing shell fragments won't penetrate it. This sounds like a direct challenge to the moths.

Master Your Mind

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Books by the score have been written about the mind and its effect upon happiness and upon every act that it dictates, for it does dictate both our moods and our moves.

We blame the weather, or something that we may have eaten; we complain about some worry, harbor thoughts of unkindness, bitterness or resentment toward someone else. In return for such thoughts, we gain a headache, an upset stomach, or a quarrelsome disposition. The importance of making your mind your Master cannot be overestimated. Our thoughts make us what we are. Every one of us can so educate his mind that it may become a superior Master, crushing unhealthy thoughts, and enriching every bodily organ with uplifting energy.

In a book about the body that I have, I was interested in the pictures of the gall bladder, which was X-rayed under the emotions of fear, worry, anger, and serenity of mind, or I might say just simple joy. And what a difference in each. This gall bladder literally danced upon its feet with terror during anger. But in joy it might resemble a child at sleep!

Little do any of us realize what a powerful Master the mind can be made to be. A friend writes that she loves rainy days. But such days often disturb and lessen the efficiency of many. A mind under control is a body under control. We can change a great may things in our favor—but not the weather, and in accepting its conditions, we should learn thereby to accept many another condition that can not be changed.

All nature is in our favor if we will but let it have full play. We inherit certain fundamental laws. They come with our birth, like the book that comes with our automobile, when newly bought, so that we may conduct its life to its fullest worth and usefulness.

The mind is the executive chamber of the brain, and from it goes every message, each one of which has its effect upon every organ of this marvelous bodily machine of ours. And yet the average person's ignorance of his body is amazing. A large proportion know next to nothing about it. The physiology of the body and the psychology of the mind are two of the most fascinating studies that anyone can pursue.

If more people knew what a marvelous body they owned, they would take better care of it. It responds instantly to kindness and intelligent care. But over it all is its Master—the Mind!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Worried More and Longer over OPA Decision Than Any Other Step He Has Taken; Chester Bowles Takes Same Stand as Henderson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 2—President Truman did not exaggerate when he told his radio listeners that he had given the price-control veto most serious consideration. According to his close advisers, he worried more and longer over this than over any other step he has ever taken.

The president's decision to veto was virtually made at a Thursday night conference in the White House, attended by his cabinet and economic advisers. Part of them were opposed to the veto. Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, Civilian Production Administrator John Small, and Secretary of the Interior "Cap" Krug felt that President Truman should accept the compromise price-control bill despite its unworkable features, and try to make it work.

Attorney General Tom Clark at first agreed with them. He viewed the veto message from a political angle and told the president he hated to see him break with his good friends on Capitol Hill, particularly Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Barkley. Later, when the decision was made in favor of the veto, however, the attorney general went to bat vigorously and helped White House advisers write the message.

Advisers who carried the ball in the inner White House debate Thursday night were OPA Administrator Paul Porter, who practically camped at the White House during the week; Chester Bowles, who is retiring as economic stabilizer; John Steelman, the new war reconverter, who has become one of the closest advisers to the president; and Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace.

Backing them up were the Department of Agriculture—though it was not vigorous—and Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, who, though not present at the meeting, sent his representative, and who was vigorous.

Later, when President Truman sat down with his four congressional leaders on Friday, he almost changed his mind. He told friends afterward that he knew how hard and loyally they had worked to pass a price-control bill, and he simply hated to go against their advice.

However, his main argument to them was that the half-breed price-control bill would not work. The Taft amendment, he especially argued, was absolutely impossible, and he cited accountancy experts of various big manufacturing firms, all of them against OPA, who branded the Taft cost-plus formula as likely to bring chaos to industry.

"I just have to put what I consider the country's welfare first," the president told his congressional leaders. "Let's not fool the country and give them something that won't work."

When they told him that they would not be able to persuade their reluctant colleagues to pass any sort of price-control bill, the president replied:

"If it's this or nothing, then we'll just have to take nothing."

Among other things, the president figured that during the chaotic period sure to follow if the polyglot price-control bill were passed, Congress would claim it was his fault for not making the bill work, when, in actual fact, the bill was unworkable. He felt also that if Congress did dare to go home without a price-control bill, things would be hotter for them in their districts than in Washington. He also warned that in this case he would call a special session of Congress.

Note—In many respects, Truman hated to accept Chester Bowles's resignation. However, Bowles urged it upon him, partly because he wanted to leave the government, partly because he felt that the political repercussions from his exit would help price control. Bowles has been none too popular with congressmen, and he advised the president that many senators would vote for price control if he stepped out. This was the same stand taken by Leon Henderson, the first OPA boss. Actual fact is that any administrator of OPA is bound to wear out his welcome no matter how good he is.

The Eastman Kodak Company has been having trouble as a result of the first atomic bomb test in New Mexico—one year ago. Eastman found that, for some mysterious reason, some of its film was turning black before exposure. Finally experts discovered that the film had been packed in straw which came from Western Kansas.

After the Los Alamos bomb test, radioactive dust from New Mexico settled on Kansas wheat fields, and is still so powerful that the kodak company has had to stop using Kansas straw for packing film.

Chairman John Wood, of Georgia, and Rep. Karl Mundt, of South Dakota, of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, have quietly ordered a committee investigator to begin a study of the Ku Klux Klan.

Although the full committee did not seem to think the Klan important enough for its attention, these two members are aware of their responsibility to investigate all groups with un-American purposes, such as those of the Klan. After a preliminary report is presented, the question of a full-scale committee investigation will again be put to a vote.

Note—Congratulations to Congressman William Barry, of Brooklyn, for demanding that the House Committee on Un-American Activities investigate the Klan. So far, Barry has not demanded that the committee investigate the equally un-American Christian Front, several of whose meetings he has addressed. Perhaps the Klan does not have many votes in Brooklyn, while the Christian Front does.

While the United Nations continue to bicker about the Franco government, underground Spanish Republicans are getting stronger.

Heavy consorship has hushed it up but about ten days ago a powerful bomb exploded in the Madrid headquarters of the Falange. Another was planted in the Plaza De La Cibeles, one of the main squares of Madrid, which did not explode. Franco police suffered several casualties from the guns of Republican partisans before they were able to get to it and prevent the explosion. . . It's only been a short time since the war, but two former enemies, Italy and Australia, now earnestly seeking to become democracies, will be proposed by the United States for admission to the United Nations next September. Truman ok'd this move last week.

. Prime Minister De Valera has decided not to apply for Irish membership in the United Nations. . . . The pro-Soviet Mongolian Peoples' Republic, however, thinks otherwise about the United Nations. It has applied for membership. Another vote for Russia. . . . Marshal Tito and Premier Hoxa, of Albania, have just held a secret conference in Belgrade, whereby pro-Soviet Albania has agreed to become a part of pro-Soviet Yugoslavia, thus presenting a stronger front against the anti-Soviet west. . . The supreme Allied commander of the Mediterranean has sent a highly-important cable to London and Washington asking for more Anglo-American troops around Trieste. He warns that Anglo-American forces on the Yugoslav border are dangerously undermanned.

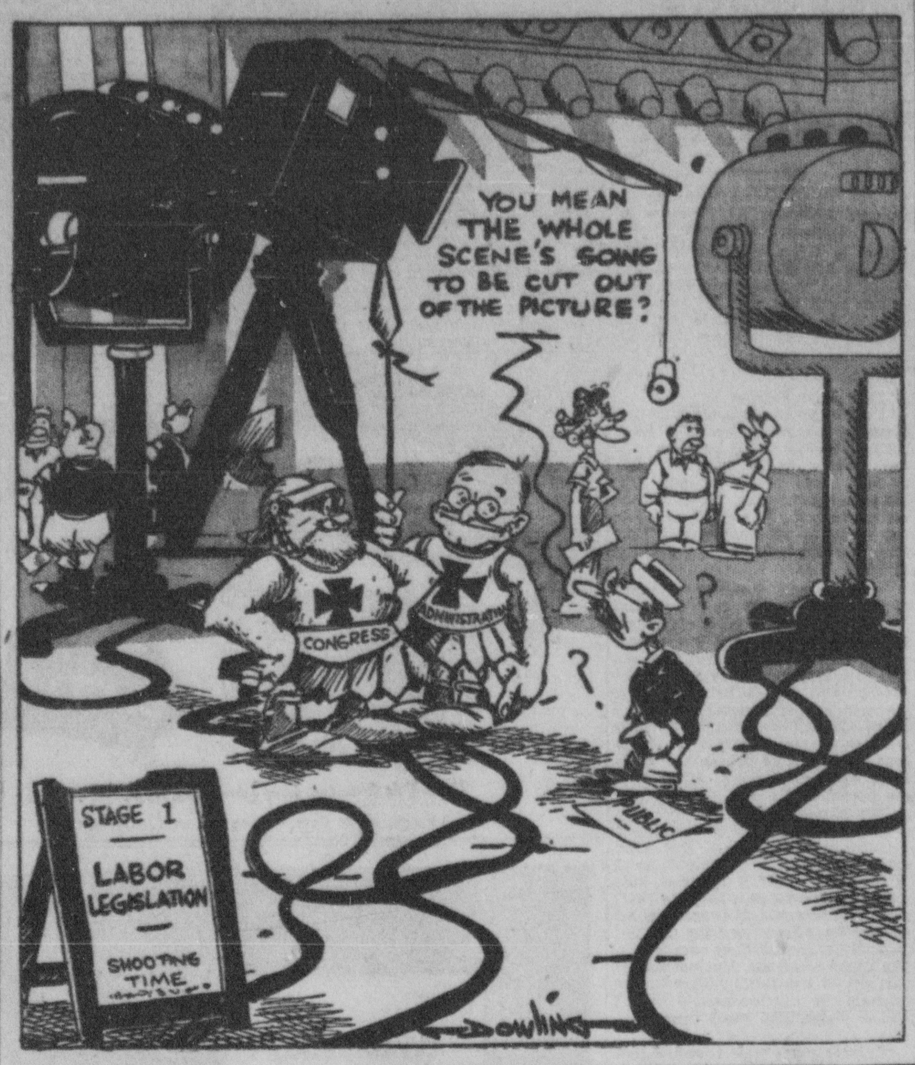
TO CONTROL RENTS

FORMER New York City Comptroller, Joseph D. McGoldrick (above) was sworn in as Commissioner of the New York State Housing Rent Commission. He issued a master regulation putting into effect the rent controls previously imposed by the O.P.A. New York is the only state with a rent control law written into its books.

AFTER ALL THAT FUSS AND FEATHERS



Many Supporters Of Opinion Truman Ill Advised In Action On OPA Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 2 — President Truman's action in venting his resentment against congress by punishing the American people has not won him any increase in support in the legislative branch of the government.

The president's message has not changed many viewpoints on Capitol Hill. Even among supporters of Mr. Truman's views on price control are many who believe he was poorly advised in the tactics he used. It is pointed out that the compromise bill passed by congress, bad as it might have seemed from the President's standpoint, was still far better than plunging the nation into confusion and trying to get some legislative remedy overnight while de-control acquired natural momentum.

The bill was, to be sure, a complicated affair but this in a sense was its advantage. It was cumbersome enough to slow up any price increases of consequence, and even the much-debated Taft amendment would have taken quite a long time to operate, during which period the change to a better system or the adjustment of the national economy to the abandonment of price controls might have been worked out. The president's course is indefensible.

Applauded by CIO-PAC

Mr. Truman can get plenty of applause from CIO-PAC followers, who are flooding the White House with mail and telegrams just as they did congress. But this sort of organized pressure does not deceive anybody, least of all members of both Houses who have been listening for months to the stories of retarded or abandoned production due to OPA mismanagement of the price problem.

Members of congress are not happy over what the President has done. Republicans who sincerely want rent control and a gradual easing of all price controls call the President's act a reckless adventure which cannot but shake the confidence of the country in the man in the White House. Democrats generally do not like the arbitrary way Mr. Truman has disregarded the advice of the leaders of his own party. Certainly in the coming campaign Democrats will be embarrassed by Mr. Truman's deviation from party solidarity.

Why did Mr. Truman choose the course of chaos instead of transition by means of the compromise bill? This question is being asked almost as often as any other—and there are many queries as to what is going to happen in the way of new legislation. The only answer that seems plausible is that Mr. Truman has decided to cast his lot with the "left wingers" who, through the CIO-PAC, think they have a political instrument with which to win elections for him which is more effective than the democratic party itself.

The President has been yielding to the CIO-PAC arguments right along, and the veto of the OPA bill was, of course, a policy vigorously pressed by the "left wing." Their idea is that if business can be punished and profit margins can be cut, and economic chaos results, then the way will be opened for socialistic experiments in nationalization of industries and government controls of all business.

OPA Judge of Profits

The chief difficulty with the OPA was that it set itself up as a judge of profits. This up to now has been left to the Treasury department to control through uniformly applied tax rates. But the OPA decided how much profit was adequate as well as what price should be charged. Such control can be defended during wartime, but it is not the way to bring back a normal production and distribution of goods nor is it the way to kill off black markets.

Deeply imbedded in the present controversy is the ideological concept of a controlled economy. Mr. Truman has gone over to that side of the controversy, and he has the backing of the labor union leaders who have nothing to fear as long as the man in the White House applies no restraints or controls to wage rates.

Mr. Truman has increased prices by sanctioning heavy increases in wage costs and now, when producers want their costs covered, he refuses to let their costs or their profits come to the natural levels which follow when the public makes the prices. The government has made a fizzle of price fixing. Industry and business left to themselves could do no worse.

In the case of housing, however—which is acutely short—a simple measure of control can be passed by both Houses of congress overnight if President Truman will let congress act. But he will seek through his supporters on Capitol Hill to get his original OPA proposals tacked onto such legislation as an amendment. This merely prolongs the controversy.

Mr. Truman has been defeated by congress, and the legislation he will eventually get will be no better than that which he vetoed. But, in addition, the American people will suffer from the confusion which has been forced upon them by the recklessness of their president. Meanwhile, prices will rise and no legislation will really disentangle the web woven by Mr. Truman's colossal mistake.

Big Salaries Paid To Many Mostly Stage Money

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Louis-Conn fight brought in $1,925,000. But first read St. Luke, Chapter 2: "There went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed." "Seizer" Augustus has returned. Louis and Conn will have to render unto "Seizer."

First, Uncle Sam "Seizer" grabs off $385,000 in "amusement taxes. Then New York "Seizer" slices off $96,000—a total of $481,000 of amusement.

But we have just begun. Gentleman Joe grosses $626,000. His training expenses—pay to sparring partners, cooks, rubbers, etc.,—are figured at $125,000. Then Uncle Sam "Seizer" jabs Joe for around $400,000, New York "Seizer" uppercut him for $34,000 and the world's champ finds his $626,000 melting down to around $65,000. He licks Conn and the "Seizers" lick him.

Billy Conn grosses $313,000 and has around $45,000 left when the Seizers leave. Well, it still looks like good money to most of us, but it's all he has to show for five years as our No. 2 heavyweight, and the chance a fighter takes to be punched into a blind old stumblebum at 28.

Truman Has Little Left

This brings me to the killingest job in the world—that of President of the United States. Mr. Truman's salary is $75,000. Of course, he was paid at that rate for only part of 1945, starting with Mr. Roosevelt's death. But he winds up the year of 1945 with only $4,200 clear. Many baseball players and crooners salt away more than that.

Now, of course I haven't seen the President's income tax report and can only guess it out rough-like. But here are some of the figures. We furnish him a handsome white house to live in, rent free. Also automobiles, the use of a yacht and personal bodyguards. Then there is a traveling allowance of $25,000, but he must turn back what he doesn't use of it. However, all official entertaining, the big dinners, etc., come out of his own pocket. And so many foreigners have been coming over for handouts and such that the entertainment eats into his pay-check like a darky boy at a watermelon contest.

If he had no expenses at all, federal taxes would take about $48,000 out of his $75,000 salary, leaving $27,000. But he has a Missouri state income tax and his expenses, leaving, as reported, around $4,200!

This, or anything like it, is a reproach to this Republic. Even a President has to lay up something for old age—and his is an aging job—what with strikes, and atoms and such.

Harold Smith, Director of the Budget, was getting $10,000. After paying taxes, he told Mr. Truman he could not afford to stay in government service. The President gave him a post with the World Bank at $22,500, free from federal taxes. This tax-free job leaves more "take home" than the President has at $75,000 subject to tax. A lot of folks would like to have tax-free jobs.

Big Money Mostly Stage Money

Joe Louis and Billy Conn and Harry Truman have a story to tell. These big salaries are mostly stage money now-a-days. Taxes hit the take-home of everybody. Big Government—Caesar Americanus—is a greater threat to workers today than Big Business.

The worker gets peeved at the Boss for the fact that he has a tough time keeping his chin above the rising cost of groceries. But why blame the Boss? Blame the Government. It is "Seizer" who hits you with the old one-two. First he eats into your pay envelope, and second, as nearly every tax is a forced price increase he ups the cost of all you buy.

When will worker and Boss stop fighting between themselves and gang up against "Seizer"?

"IT SAYS HERE" ---By Bob Hope

I notice one of the railroads is planning to abolish the custom of dining car tips. It's really going to be hard for me to break the habit . . . of sneaking out of the diner while the waiter is in the kitchen.

I hope they abolish tipping throughout the trains. I have to carry so much silver in my pockets, I'm afraid to sit down, because when I get up my pants don't.

Of course, I always tipped the waiters fifty percent . . . but what got them mad . . . it was fifty percent of the normal tip.

But I'm only kidding. I've got quite a reputation in those dining cars. The minute I walk in, the waiter rushes right to my table . . . to grab the tip the last customer left.

It doesn't pay to have a reputation as a small tipper. I ordered orange juice in Chicago and by the time I got it, I didn't need it. . . . I was in Pasadena and just reached my arm out and picked the oranges.

No Better Berry

The Bishop of Ely, if one can believe Shakespeare and a devious Duke of Gloucester, had good strawberries in his garden at Holborn. And Queen Elizabeth, always forthright in her opinions and wanting her money's worth, was irked by the sales methods of "strawberry wives," who put "two or three great strawberries at the mouth of the pot," with the rest but little ones. All of which leads one to say that the strawberry is at the height of its goodness and greatness this week on fruit farms—the sun of June having ripened red rows of what is reported to be the best crop in years.

Not only are "tame berries" in record profusion, but so are the wild ones—the meadow sweet Fragaria virginiana, which delighted early New England colonists, who found that it was not necessary to be a Lord of Ely or a vicar in Kent to have strawberries and cream for tea. Yet the wild strawberry, it must be sorrowfully conceded, is not in even this good year, of that finger-tip size which once enabled a two-quart pail to be quickly filled by young gatherers. Whether it is a result of more intensive and scientific seeding of meadowlands, whether it is caused by a more complete cutting of grass by mowing machines than a more lenient scythe accomplished, the fact is that the wild strawberry does not flourish as it did when Dan'l Webster loved strawberry shortcake for supper.

Happy, one believes, are the larks, goldfinches and other winged tenants of meadows, who get their strawberries free. For despite the big crop, prices of strawberries in Cumberland would seem to rate them with those whose leaves richly adorn ducal coronets. Yet the strawberry, it can be said, is always worth all it costs in juiceless legal tender. If a better berry was ever made, one knows that Walton's "Dr. Boteler" never heard of it.

Delay In Election Results Deplorable

The Maryland primary election was held a week ago yesterday but it was nearly seventy-two hours later before some of the winners emerged from the shower of ballots. Part of this delay was due to failure of officials of polling places to report the results to newspapers after tabulation was completed hours after the polls closed, because lengthy ballots always make the count slow. Many hours are required to complete the tabulation, leaving officials exhausted after their long day, and we are inclined to consider the failure to report the results in that light rather than being due to inefficiency, or perhaps indifference.

It has been suggested that a law be enacted requiring election clerks to post complete returns outside each polling place after tabulation is completed, such as is the required custom in many states. We hope the members of the Allegany delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates and Senate will keep this in mind and make every effort to have a statewide bill enacted making such duties compulsory. Failing in that, then to have a measure passed covering Allegany county and as many of the other political divisions in the state that wish to be included.

But even that will not speed up the count, and the long wait for returns experienced in every election is a convincing argument in favor of voting machines. They are badly needed and are needed now. The Allegany county commissioners have had the matter under consideration since early Spring. A survey of the number required has been made, the cost arrived at and delayed payments for them gone into. The commissioners, at that time, indicated they would be purchased in the near future so that they might be in operation for the general election in November. The opinion has been expressed the machines would soon pay for themselves, and thereafter save the taxpayers money, but best of all they would make it possible for election returns to be tabulated promptly and enable the public to have the results of an election without undergoing long delays.

Marshall Faces Problem In China

That General Marshall has a sizeable Chinese puzzle on his hands in endeavoring to reconcile the warring factions of China has long been apparent. The difficulties of his problem recently were highlighted in a Nanking dispatch about a proposal he had received from the Chinese communists for the reorganization of China's army, the final, crucial issue standing in the way of peace. Included in their demands was a requirement that "all areas liberated by the communists remain in communist hands."

A pertinent slant on communist "liberation" is provided by a dispatch from Tokyo. Chairman George C. Atcheson Jr. told the Allied Council for Japan that Russia was violating the Potsdam surrender terms by failing to repatriate Japanese captured in Manchuria. He revealed that 93 per cent of disarmed Japanese had been repatriated from U. S.-controlled areas, 68 per cent from British areas and 94 per cent from Chinese areas, excluding Manchuria. Soviet repatriation of Japanese troops in Manchuria was exactly nothing.

American news correspondents in Manchuria last February drew from the Red army commander at Mukden the statement that disarmed Japanese troops in his area had been entrained to work projects in Siberia. "To have and to hold" appears to be the Soviet principle of liberation for occupied Manchuria, and Chinese communists forces are following the pattern. Their proposal to General Marshall that all areas they have "liberated" remain in their hands is typical.

Thus, where Russian troops have stripped Russia's industrial potential and enslaved disarmed Japanese troops as reparations, Soviet "security" would be further assured by Chinese communist control. The communist faction in China is more intent on providing for Soviet interests than on cooperating with General Marshall for peace in China.

General Marshall's position has become further complicated by demands for the withdrawal of United States for "the outbreak and propagation of civil war in this country." Dr. Tao Heng-chi, spokesman for 54 anti-civil war groups in Shanghai, told a press conference: "I am inclined to think Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek wants civil war," and that reactionary supporters of the generalissimo desired it as their one chance of retaining power. All of which has a familiar sound. Wherever opposition is raised to communist entrenchment, "fascism" is to blame.

By the same token, General Marshall is in China to promote fascism, and American forces supporting him in China are responsible for civil war and should go home, leaving China to communist control.

The situation in China would be bewildering enough if it were not paralleled the world over, wherever the Allies, striving for peace, are confronted by the problem of Soviet expansion for the postwar "security" of Russia.

France, where the cigaret is reported to be the principal medium of exchange, will be in serious difficulty if the fag ever is outlawed, as it was in Kansas following World War I.

Charges Against RFC Unexpected

To most Americans the accusation of Comptroller General Warren that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is guilty of "confused" accounting and bookkeeping practices comes as something of a shock. The big lending agency, the greatest government-operated credit agency in the world, has long enjoyed the full confidence and respect of the public. Operated along business-like lines that have enabled it to show a consistent profit, the RFC has been almost immune from the storms of criticism which have whirled around other federal agencies.

Mr. Warren, as head of the general accounting office, has now preferred charges which, to a lay public unfamiliar with the mysteries of accounting practice, are certain to have an ominous sound. He asserts that the RFC lacks accounting control of seven billion dollars invested in its properties and its 800 million investment in subsidiary companies and that it does not control its cash receipts or certain important liabilities.

Because of these alleged faulty practices, Mr. Warren contends, GAO auditors have been unable to determine the amounts actually invested in individual plant properties nor "to ascertain what profits have actually been earned or losses incurred by the RFC through the disposition of" plant properties held by the Defense Plants Corporation.

How seriously at fault the accounting practices of the RFC actually are is something for the experts in this field to determine. Charles B. Henderson, chairman of the board of the RFC, asserts nothing in the report shows that the government had suffered losses, or that "irregularities" had occurred. The question so far is whether its accounting methods are proper or adequate, and this is something which Congress must now carefully investigate.

The domestic totalitarians are again talking of rationing meat. If they start rationing it in October, that should have the effect of separating a lot of them from the payroll in November.

Vets Find Doors Of Colleges Closed

Nobody needs to tell individual veterans that it is hard to get into college but it comes as a surprise to learn from Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine that as many as 300,000 of them "will be turned away this fall." This dismal prospect, which all hope will not be realized, is no doubt a matter of as much concern to the colleges as it is to the returning soldiers.

What can be done about the situation? Unfortunately, he possibilities are limited. The institutions of learning have only so many dormitories and classrooms and so much equipment. They were unable to add to their facilities during the war and they do not now enjoy any special priorities in the matter of new construction. It is not fair to the colleges and even less fair to students already enrolled to insist that more men be admitted than can be adequately housed and trained.

The colleges are aware of the problem and eager to find the solution. Many of them have erected huts and other temporary units on their campuses and are using classrooms which are no longer suited to that purpose.

Sympathy for the disappointed veterans is as widespread as it is genuine. Unfortunately, that does not do them any good. It is infinitely less than they deserve.

A new army cloth is said to be so tough that glancing shell fragments won't penetrate it. This sounds like a direct challenge to the moths.

Truman Worried More and Longer over OPA Decision Than Any Other Step He Has Taken; Chester Bowles Takes Same Stand as Henderson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, July 2—President Truman did not exaggerate when he told his radio listeners that he had given the price-control veto most serious consideration. According to his close advisers, he worried more and longer over this than over any other step he has ever taken.

The president's decision to veto was virtually made at a Thursday night conference in the White House, attended by his cabinet and economic advisers. Part of them were opposed to the veto. He viewed the veto message from a political angle and told the president he hated to see him break with his good friends on Capitol Hill, particularly Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Barkley. Later, when the decision was made in favor of the veto, however, the attorney general went to bat vigorously and helped White House advisers write the message.

Advisers who carried the ball in the inner White House debate Thursday night were OPA Administrator Paul Porter, who practically camped at the White House during the week; Chester Bowles, who is retiring as economic stabilizer; John Steelman, the new war reconverter, who has become one of the closest advisers to the president; and Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace.

Backing them up were the Department of Agriculture—though it was not vigorous—and Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, who, though not present at the meeting, sent his representative, and who was vigorous.

Later, when President Truman sat down with his four congressional leaders on Friday, he almost changed his mind. He told friends afterward that he knew how hard and loyally they had worked to pass a price-control bill, and he simply hated to go against their advice.

However, his main argument to them was that the half-breed price-control bill would not work. The Taft amendment, he especially argued, was absolutely impossible, and he cited accountancy experts of various big manufacturing firms, all of them against OPA, who branded the Taft cost-plus formula as likely to bring chaos to industry.

"I just have to put what I consider the country's welfare first," the president told his congressional leaders. "Let's not fool the country and give them something that won't work."

When they told him that they would not be able to persuade their reluctant colleagues to pass any sort of price-control bill, the president replied:

"If it's this or nothing, then we'll just have to take nothing."

Among other things, the president figured that during the chaotic period sure to follow if the polyglot price-control bill were passed, Congress would claim it was his fault for not making the bill work, when, in actual fact, the bill was unworkable. He felt also that if Congress did dare to go home without a price-control bill, things would be hotter for them in their districts than in Washington. He also warned that in this case he would call a special session of Congress.

Note—In many respects, Truman hated to accept Chester Bowles's resignation. However, Bowles urged it upon him, partly because he wanted to leave the government, partly because he felt that the political repercussions from his exit would help price control. Bowles has been none too popular with congressmen, and he advised the president that many senators would vote for price control if he stepped out. This was the same stand taken by Leon Henderson, the first OPA boss. Actual fact is that any administrator of OPA is bound to wear out his welcome no matter how good he is.

The Eastman Kodak Company has been having trouble as a result of the first atomic bomb test in New Mexico—one year ago. Eastman found that, for some mysterious reason, some of its film was turning black before exposure. Finally experts discovered that the film had been packed in straw which came from Western Kansas.

After the Los Alamos bomb test, radioactive dust from New Mexico settled on Kansas wheat fields, and is still so powerful that the kodak company has had to stop using Kansas straw for packing film.

Chairman John Wood, of Georgia, and Rep. Karl Mundt, of South Dakota, of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, have quietly ordered a committee investigator to begin a study of the Ku Klux Klan.

Although the full committee did not seem to think the Klan important enough for its attention, these two members are aware of their responsibility to investigate all groups with un-American purposes, such as those of the Klan. After a preliminary report is presented, the question of a full-scale committee investigation will again be put to a vote.

Note—Congratulations to Congressman William Barry, of Brooklyn, for demanding that the House Committee on Un-American Activities investigate the Klan. So far, Barry has not demanded that the committee investigate the equally un-American Christian Front, several of whose meetings he has addressed. Perhaps the Klan does not have many votes in Brooklyn, while the Christian Front does.

While the United Nations continue to bicker about the Franco government, underground Spanish Republicans are getting stronger.

Heavy consorship has hushed it up but about ten days ago a powerful bomb exploded in the Madrid headquarters of the Falange. Another was planted in the Plaza De La Cibeles, one of the main squares of Madrid, which did not explode. Franco police suffered several casualties from the guns of Republican partisans before they were able to get to it and prevent the explosion. . . It's only been a short time since the war, but two former enemies, Italy and Australia, now earnestly seeking to become democracies, will be proposed by the United States for admission to the United Nations next September. Truman ok'd this move last week. . . Prime Minister De Valera has decided not to apply for Irish membership in the United Nations. . . . The pro-Soviet Mongolian Peoples' Republic, however, thinks otherwise about the United Nations. It has applied for membership. Another vote for Russia. . . . Marshal Tito and Premier Hoxa, of Albania, have just held a secret conference in Belgrade, whereby pro-Soviet Albania has agreed to become a part of pro-Soviet Yugoslavia, thus presenting a stronger front against the anti-Soviet west. . . The supreme Allied commander of the Mediterranean has sent a highly-important cable to London and Washington asking for more Anglo-American troops around Trieste. He warns that Anglo-American forces on the Yugoslav border are dangerously undermanned.

TO CONTROL RENTS

FORMER New York City Comptroller, Joseph D. McGoldrick, (above) was sworn in as Commissioner of the New York State Housing Rent Commission. He issued a master regulation putting into effect the rent controls previously imposed by the O.P.A. New York is the only state with a rent control law written into its books.

AFTER ALL THAT FUSS AND FEATHERS

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 2 — President Truman's action in venting his resentment against congress by punishing the American people has not won him any increase in support in the legislative branch of the government.

The president's message has not changed many viewpoints on Capitol Hill. Even among supporters of Mr. Truman's views on price control are many who believe he was poorly advised in the tactics he used. It is pointed out that the compromise bill passed by congress, bad as it might have seemed from the President's standpoint, was still far better than plunging the nation into confusion and trying to get some legislative remedy overnight while de-control acquired natural momentum.

The bill was, to be sure, a complicated affair but this in a sense was its advantage. It was cumbersome enough to slow up any price increases of consequence, and even the much-debated Taft amendment would have taken quite a long time to operate, during which period the change to a better system or the adjustment of the national economy to the abandonment of price controls might have been worked out. The president's course is indefensible.

Applauded by CIO-PAC

Mr. Truman can get plenty of applause from CIO-PAC followers, who are flooding the White House with mail and telegrams just as they did congress. But this sort of organized pressure does not deceive anybody, least of all members of both Houses who have been listening for months to the stories of retarded or abandoned production due to OPA mismanagement of the price problem.

Members of congress are not happy over what the President has done. Republicans who sincerely want rent control and a gradual easing of all price controls call the President's act a reckless adventure which cannot but shake the confidence of the country in the man in the White House. Democrats generally do not like the arbitrary way Mr. Truman has disregarded the advice of the leaders of his own party. Certainly in the coming campaign Democrats will be embarrassed by Mr. Truman's deviation from party solidarity.

Why did Mr. Truman choose the course of chaos instead of transition by means of the compromise bill? This question is being asked almost as often as any other—and there are many queries as to what is going to happen in the way of new legislation. The only answer that seems plausible is that Mr. Truman has decided to cast his lot with the "left wingers" who, through the CIO-PAC, think they have a political instrument with which to win elections for him which is more effective than the democratic party itself.

The President has been yielding to the CIO-PAC arguments right along, and the veto of the OPA bill was, of course, a policy vigorously pressed by the "left wing." Their idea is that if business can be punished and profit margins can be cut, and economic chaos results, then the way will be opened for socialistic experiments in nationalization of industries and government controls of all business.

OPA Judge of Profits

The chief difficulty with the OPA was that it set itself up as a judge of profits. This up to now has been left to the Treasury department to control through uniformly applied tax rates. But the OPA decided how much profit was adequate as well as what price should be charged. Such control can be defended during wartime, but it is not the way to bring back a normal production and distribution of goods nor is it the way to kill off black markets.

Deeply imbedded in the present controversy is the ideological concept of a controlled economy. Mr. Truman has gone over to that side of the controversy, and he has the backing of the labor union leaders who have nothing to fear as long as the man in the White House applies no restraints or controls to wage rates.

Mr. Truman has increased prices by sanctioning heavy increases in wage costs and now, when producers want their costs covered, he refuses to let their costs or their profits come to the natural levels which follow when the public makes the prices. The government has made a fizzle of price fixing. Industry and business left to themselves could do no worse.

In the case of housing, however—which is acutely short—a simple measure of control can be passed by both Houses of congress overnight if President Truman will let congress act. But he will seek through his supporters on Capitol Hill to get his original OPA proposals tacked onto such legislation as an amendment. This merely prolongs the controversy.

Mr. Truman has been defeated by congress, and the legislation he will eventually get will be no better than that which he vetoed. But, in addition, the American people will suffer from the confusion which has been forced upon them by the recklessness of their president. Meanwhile, prices will rise and no legislation will really disentangle the web woven by Mr. Truman's colossal mistake.

Big Salaries Paid To Many Mostly Stage Money

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Louis-Conn fight brought in $1,925,000. But first read St. Luke, Chapter 2: "There went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed." "Seizer" Augustus has returned. Louis and Conn will have to render unto "Seizer."

First, Uncle Sam "Seizer" grabs off $385,000 in "amusement taxes. Then New York "Seizer" slices off $96,000—a total of $481,000 of amusement

But we have just begun. Gentleman Joe grosses $626,000. His training expenses—pay to sparring partners, cooks, rubbers, etc.,—are figured at $125,000. Then Uncle Sam "Seizer" jabs Joe for around $400,000, New York "Seizer" uppercut him for $34,000 and the world's champ finds his $626,000 melting down to around $65,000. He licks Conn and the "Seizers" lick him.

Billy Conn grosses $313,000 and has around $45,000 left when the Seizers leave. Well, it still looks like good money to most of us, but it's all he has to show for five years as our No. 2 heavyweight, and the chance a fighter takes to be punched into a blind old stumblebum at 28.

Truman Has Little Left

This brings me to the killingest job in the world—that of President of the United States. Mr. Truman's salary is $75,000. Of course, he was paid at that rate for only part of 1945, starting with Mr. Roosevelt's death. But he winds up the year of 1945 with only $4,200 clear. Many baseball players and crooners sail away more than that.

Now, of course I haven't seen the President's income tax report and can only guess it out rough-like. But here are some of the figures. We furnish him a handsome white house to live in, rent free. Also automobiles, the use of a yacht and personal bodyguards. Then there is a traveling allowance of $25,000, but he must turn back what he doesn't use of it. However, all official entertaining, the big dinners, etc., come out of his own pocket. And so many foreigners have been coming over for handouts and such that the entertainment eats into his pay-check like a darky boy at a watermelon contest.

If he had no expenses at all, federal taxes would take about $48,000 out of his $75,000 salary, leaving $27,000. But he has a Missouri state income tax and his expenses, leaving, as reported, around $4,200!

This, or anything like it, is a reproach to this Republic. Even a President has to lay up something for old age—and his is an aging job—what with strikes, and atoms and such.

Harold Smith, Director of the Budget, was getting $10,000. After paying taxes, he told Mr. Truman he could not afford to stay in government service. The President gave him a post with the World Bank at $22,500, free from federal taxes. This tax-free job leaves more "take home" than the President has at $75,000 subject to tax. A lot of folks would like to have tax-free jobs.

Big Money Mostly Stage Money

Joe Louis and Billy Conn and Harry Truman have a story to tell. These big salaries are mostly stage money now-a-days. Taxes hit the take-home of everybody. Big Government—Caesar Americanus—is a greater threat to workers today than Big Business.

The worker gets peeved at the Boss for the fact that he has a tough time keeping his chin above the rising cost of groceries. But why blame the Boss? Blame the Government. It is "Seizer" who hits you with the old one-two. First he eats into your pay envelope, and second, as nearly every tax is a forced price increase he ups the cost of all you buy.

When will worker and Boss stop fighting between themselves and gang up against "Seizer"?

"IT SAYS HERE" ---By Bob Hope

I notice one of the railroads is planning to abolish the custom of dining car tips. It's really going to be hard for me to break the habit . . . of sneaking out of the diner while the waiter is in the kitchen.

I hope they abolish tipping throughout the trains. I have to carry so much silver in my pockets, I'm afraid to sit down, because when I get up my pants don't.

Of course, I always tipped the waiters fifty percent . . . but what got them mad . . . it was fifty percent of the normal tip.

But I'm only kidding. I've got quite a reputation in those dining cars. The minute I walk in, the waiter rushes right to my table . . . to grab the tip the last customer left.

It doesn't pay to have a reputation as a small tipper. I ordered orange juice in Chicago and by the time I got it, I didn't need it. . . . I was in Pasadena and just reached my arm out and picked the oranges.

No Better Berry

The Bishop of Ely, if one can believe Shakespeare and a devious Duke of Gloucester, had good strawberries in his garden at Holborn. And Queen Elizabeth, always forthright in her opinions and wanting her money's worth, was irked by the sales methods of "strawberry wives," who put "two or three great strawberries at the mouth of the pot," with the rest but little ones. All of which leads one to say that the strawberry is at the height of its goodness and greatness this week on fruit farms—the sun of June having ripened red rows of what is reported to be the best crop in years.

Not only are "tame berries" in record profusion, but so are the wild ones—the meadow sweet Fragaria virginiana, which delighted early New England colonists, who found that it was not necessary to be a Lord of Ely or a vicar in Kent to have strawberries and cream for tea. Yet the wild strawberry, it must be sorrowfully conceded, is not in even this good year, of that finger-tip size which once enabled a two-quart pail to be quickly filled by young gatherers. Whether it is a result of more intensive and scientific seeding of meadowlands, whether it is caused by a more complete cutting of grass by mowing machines than a more lenient scythe accomplished, the fact is that the wild strawberry does not flourish as it did when Dan'l Webster loved strawberry shortcake for supper.

Happy, one believes, are the larks, goldfinches and other winged tenants of meadows, who get their strawberries free. For despite the big crop, prices of strawberries in Cumberland would seem to rate them with those whose leaves richly adorn ducal coronets. Yet the strawberry, it can be said, is always worth all it costs in juiceless legal tender. If a better berry was ever made, one knows that Walton's "Dr. Boteler" never heard of it.

"How to save money on your electric bill"

Second in a Series by Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist

1 Throw away your electric clock and buy a sun-dial. Of course, it won't wake you up for work, but think of the fun you'll have trying to figure out what time it is — on sunny days, anyway. And you'll be saving about 5c every month! At that rate, you'll have the sun-dial almost paid for in only 41 years!

2 Donate your electric washer to an orphanage and start doing your wash by hand. In one month, you'll actually have saved 8c! At the end of a year, you'll have almost enough money to pay for a good strong washboard, which you'll be needing by then. The exercise will do you worlds of good, and keep you out of mischief for hours and hours at a time.

3 Turn off your radio during "The Electric Hour" on Sunday afternoon. Of course, you'll miss a wonderful program, but you'll save a sixth of a penny every time you do it. In a year, that's nearly 9c. And there's no music so pleasant as those coppers clinking in your pocket!

* * *

• Watch for more of these practical money-saving suggestions by Dr. Twitch. He really knows his subject. We hope he'll help you realize how many jobs electricity does for you and how little it costs for each.

Steele Secures Permit For Printing Shop

An occupancy permit was granted in the city engineer's office yesterday to David M. Steele, president of the Allegany Printing Company, Incorporated, to use a one-story frame building at 401 Greene street, owned by the firm, as a printing shop.

The building, located in a business zoning district, was formerly used as a store. On the application for the permit Steele listed Grant Wiebel as secretary of the company.

E. L. Perry, 1000 Oldtown road, secured a building permit to construct a one-story three-car garage at the rear of 1002 Oldtown road, on Lot 16 in Bannockburn addition. Virginia Garlitz Named Metropolitan Nurse

Miss Virginia Garlitz, Mt. Savage, began her new duties yesterday as field nurse for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the Cumberland area, including Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Lonaconing and LaVale.

Miss Garlitz, a graduate of the Mercy hospital school of nursing, Baltimore, received her honorable discharge from the army nurse corps March 6 with the rank of first lieutenant, after four and a half years' service. She served 28½ months in Africa and Italy with the 37th general hospital group.

William Lawson Rites Will Be Held Today

BALTIMORE, July 2 (AP) — Funeral services will be held here tomorrow afternoon for William P. Lawson, former Baltimore police commissioner who died suddenly Monday from a heart attack which seized him while he was putting his car in the garage.

The 66-year-old native of Lawsonia, near Chisfield on the Eastern shore had a stormy career in business and Maryland politics.

At one time he was chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and in 1937 Gov. Nice appointed him Baltimore police commissioner.

His administration of that post came under attack by the criminal justice commission and in 1938 he was presented to a grand jury on 12 criminal charges, including fraudulent conversion of securities, conspiracy to defraud and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Lawson resigned as police commissioner in 1939 and two months later was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud. He was sentenced to three years in the house of correction and received a partial pardon from Gov. O'Conor in 1943.

Second in a Series by Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist

1 Throw away your electric clock and buy a sun-dial. Of course, it won't wake you up for work, but think of the fun you'll have trying to figure out what time it is — on sunny days, anyway. And you'll be saving about 5c every month! At that rate, you'll have the sun-dial almost paid for in only 41 years!

2 Donate your electric washer to an orphanage and start doing your wash by hand. In one month, you'll actually have saved 8c! At the end of a year, you'll have almost enough money to pay for a good strong washboard, which you'll be needing by then. The exercise will do you worlds of good, and keep you out of mischief for hours and hours at a time.

3 Turn off your radio during "The Electric Hour" on Sunday afternoon. Of course, you'll miss a wonderful program, but you'll save a sixth of a penny every time you do it. In a year, that's nearly 9c. And there's no music so pleasant as those coppers clinking in your pocket!

• Watch for more of these practical money-saving suggestions by Dr. Twitch. He really knows his subject. We hope he'll help you realize how many jobs electricity does for you and how little it costs for each.

Pancreatic Ill Is Masquerader, Physician Says

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The fact that entirely different diseases sometimes show almost identical symptoms frequently creates a difficult situation for the doctor and a desperate one for the patient. This is especially true in cases of acute pancreatitis or inflammation of the pancreas, because this disorder masquerades not as one, but as two other totally dissimilar conditions.

The pancreas is a gland in the abdomen that forms insulin. This insulin is needed for the use of sugars by the body, as well as other substances necessary in the digestion of food. Its inflammation may result in a very dangerous condition in some instances while, in others, it may cause only a mild attack of pain and perhaps vomiting.

Two Conditions

According to Dr. Norman G. Godfrey, of England, the two conditions with which acute pancreatitis is most apt to be confused are a ruptured ulcer of the stomach or the first part of the bowel, and acute inflammation of the gallbladder. The less severe cases cause symptoms like those of gall-bladder inflammation; the more severe, those resembling ruptured ulcer.

Now, a ruptured ulcer demands speedy operation if the patient's life is to be saved, whereas, in gallbladder inflammation, operation is either not performed at all or delayed for sime time.

If operation is performed in cases where acute pancreatitis has failed to be diagnosed, it may result seriously, while if other measures of treatment are used the outlook for the patient is much better.

Faced with this disease in a serious form, the doctor bears a heavy responsibility and is confronted with an almost insoluble dilemma. To operate or not to operate is the question and his patient's life may depend on how he answers it. Nor is there any way, short of opening the abdomen and looking, of being absolutely, positively sure that the pancreas is inflammed.

Neglect Means Death

The price of neglecting ruptured stomach ulcer comes high, and it is certain. It means death. Therefore, Dr. Godfrey cautions that berfore a physician dare forego operation in the belief that he is dealing with acute pancreatitis, he must give careful thought to the possibility of ruptured ulcer.

If he cannot be certain that this is not the cause, operation must be carried out. If, at the time of operation, it is found that the pancreas is inflamed, the gallbladder may be drained to relieve the pressure on the pancreas, since the gall ducts empty into the intestine near the front part of the pancreas.

If it is felt certain that the trouble is due to acute pancreatitis, the treatment used consists of complete rest in bed, the giving of blood plasma by injection into a vein and other measures to keep up the patient's strength.

Few "Thin" Stocks Rise; Trends Are Uneven With Losers In Majority

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—In one of the slowest sessions of the past year, a few special "thin" stocks today jumped several points while the majority of leaders milled indifferently over a narrowly irregular route.

Dealings were negligible from the start and trends notably uneven at the close with losers in the majority. Of 912 issues to appear, against 1,035 the day before, 470 declined and 275 advanced. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 79.2. Transfers of 780,000 shares compared with 1,560,000 Monday and were a low for a five-hour stretch since March 12 when the total of 720,000 was a minimum since last August 8.

Among assorted favorites, A. O. Smith common rose 3¾ to $74 on a record pipe order. National Distillers was up 2⅝ at $91.37, a new 1946 peak, in the wake of a stockholders' splitup vote. A split proposal lifted Thatcher Manufacturing a point at one time but the stock eased to finish up one-fourth at $44.25.

A shade advanced in the Curb were Catalin, American Maracaibo and Humble Oil. Stumblers were Kaiser-Frazer, Lamson Corporation, Middle We'st Corporation and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 360,600 shares versus 570,000 yesterday.

Railroad obligations were irregularly lower in the bond market today although selected issues were in demand and registered some gains.

United States governments were slightly higher in over-the-counter markets with the Victory loan 2½s up one-eighth at 103 31-32 bid. There were no sales on the exchange.

Total sales of $3,940,000 compared with $4,121,000 Monday.

Few "Thin" Stocks Rise; Trends Are Uneven With Losers In Majority

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—In one of the slowest sessions of the past year, a few special "thin" stocks today jumped several points while the majority of leaders milled indifferently over a narrowly irregular route.

Dealings were negligible from the start and trends notably uneven at the close with losers in the majority. Of 912 issues to appear, against 1,035 the day before, 470 declined and 275 advanced. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .2 of a point at 79.2. Transfers of 760,000 shares compared with 1,560,000 Monday and were a low for a five-hour stretch since March 12 when the total of 720,000 was a minimum since last August 8.

Among assorted favorites, A. O. Smith common rose 3¾ to $74 on a record pipe order. National Distillers was up 2¾ at $91.37, a new 1946 peak, in the wake of a stockholders' splitup vote. A split proposal lifted Thatcher Manufacturing a point at one time but the stock eased to finish up one-fourth at $44.25.

A shade advanced in the Curb were Catalin, American Maracaibo and Humble Oil. Stumblers were Kaiser-Frazer, Lamson Corporation, Middle West Corporation and Electric Bond and Share. Turnover here was 360,000 shares versus 570,000 yesterday.

Railroad obligations were irregularly lower in the bond market today although selected issues were in demand and registered some gains.

United States governments were slightly higher in over-the-counter markets with the Victory loan 2½s up one-eighth at 103 31-32 bid. There were no sales on the exchange.

Total sales of $3,940,000 compared with $4,121,000 Monday.

Boyd E. Payton, Lynchburg, Va., TWUA regional director for the Upper South and a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, will be one of the speakers on the Celanese local's annual Fourth of July picnic to be held in Frostburg.

The speaking session, to begin about 5 p. m., will include brief talks by I. Duke Avnet, Baltimore attorney, and Charles A. Stewart, Frostburg.

Chartered buses will leave the union hall here at 10 a. m. Thursday and from McCoole bridge at 9:30 a. m. The latter bus will stop for passengers at all Georges Creek towns.

Other features of the program will be a greasy pig contest, free swimming and games and a dance from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

One Phase Of Union Dispute Is Settled

BALTIMORE, July 2 (AP) — One phase of a bitter dispute between the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (AFL) and its Baltimore local was settled in circuit court No. 2 today when Judge Michael J. Manley overruled a motion by the local to dissolve an injunction held by the parent organization.

The injunction, granted about six weeks ago, restrains the local from disposing of its books and $700,000 in assets.

At the same time, Judge Manley directed the local to hold an election of officers within 60 days.

The local (No. 101) has charged the international president of the brotherhood, William Hutcheson, with "coercing, intimidating and bribing" certain witnesses to withhold testimony, concerning what it charged was a $244,038 embezzlement from the local's funds. The local charges the funds were taken by Henry W. Blumenberg, appointed local administrator by Hutcheson in 1927.

The international brotherhood has been seeking to reorganize the local, and have new officers elected.

Gen. Sands Will Lead Postwar 29th Division

RICHMOND, Va., July 2 (AP)—With confirmation by the War department, Brig. Gen. William H. Sands, a native of Richmond and veteran of two world wars, will become commanding general of the postwar 29th division composed of national guardsmen from Virginia and Maryland.

Gov. William M. Tuck, who made the appointment jointly with Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, of Maryland, announced the selection today, subject to War department sanction which is expected to be only a formality.

Gen. Sands, who began his military career as a private in Company D of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues in 1910, will be in charge of preparing for the resumption of national guard activities which will eventually provide approximately 10,500 troops under his command in the "Blue and Gray" division.

New Playground Group May Be Organized

A petition is being prepared for presentation to the mayor and city council regarding a new city playground, which it is proposed to locate on part of the lot on School street between Saratoga and Tilghman streets, according to Mrs. Paul G. Stakem, 611 Sedgwick street.

Plans are being made to organize a playground association, which will probably be known as the Campobello Playground Association, Mrs. Stakem said. She added that permission to use the land has been granted by the owner, the Allegany County Board of Education.

Berkowitz Firm Makes Request For New Factory

Company Representative Confers With Group Of Frostburg Officials

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, July 2 — The mayor and city commissioners held a joint meeting last evening for the purpose of negotiating plans with the Michael Berkowitz Company, Incorporated for the construction of a new factory in Frostburg.

The meeting was the result of a letter received from Benedict Berkowitz last week by Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore in which Berkowitz stated that his company is finding it almost impossible to compete with other manufacturers with the obsolete facilities that now exist here.

Berkowitz informed the mayor that $250,000 will be necessary to erect, equip and provide engineering service to establish a plant here that will compare with other plants manufacturing the same line of goods under modern conditions.

Corporation Proposed

It was suggested by Berkowitz that a corporation be formed here for the purpose of dealing with the company and that bonds for approximately $100,000 be issued for the purpose of erecting a suitable building with about 30,000 square feet of floor space. The bonds are to be secured by a first mortgage on the building and are to be retired at the rate of one-fifteenth of the total issue annually. The bonds will pay two per cent interest annually. In addition the city is asked to make an outright grant of land for the proposed factory building.

In the event that Frostburg decides to provide a new building for the concern, which has been here for 30 years, the company, according to Berkowitz, plans to employ an additional number of persons, increasing their payroll to approximately $20,000 weekly.

The committee appointed by the Frostburg Business Association to co-operate with the city officials in negotiating with Berkowitz, consists of William B. Yates, Ira Langeluttig, E. I. Prichard, F. Earl Kreitzburg and Mayor Skidmore.

Sites recommended include the ground adjoining the park at the community swimming pool, an open space along the C. & P. railroad tracks in Grahamtown, and a tract of land on Route 40 at Sand Spring.

Another Meeting Planned

The committee of the Frostburg Business Association and the mayor and city commissioners will hold another meeting within 10 days or immediately after the land survey of the various sites is completed.

The Berkowitz company, which first came to this community through the efforts of the late George Stern, in whose building they first started operation, has been trying for many years to induce the city of Frostburg to provide the company with larger quarters, pointing out that the other towns in which they operate have complied with a similar suggestion. Uniontown, Pa., at past meetings has been mentioned as an example of a community which co-operated with the company, and on one occasion

Mrs. Martha Smith Dies At Romney

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., July 2 — Mrs. Martha Jane Kidner Smith, 81, died at her home in Romney at 4:45 a. m. today. She was a native of Hampshire county. Her parents were the late John and Hariet Kidner. On October 31, 1883, she married the Rev. Benjamin Wesley Smith a minister in the Church of the Brethren. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren from girlhood.

The family moved to Mineral county in 1905 and lived on a farm on Beaver Run, near the Brick church where besides his ministerial work her husband operated a farm until he retired in 1945. After his retirement the family moved to Romney.

Besides her widower, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Annie Starnes, Romney; one sister, Mrs Daniel Carlysle, Augusta. There are three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Mount Zion church, near Augusta, at 11 a. m. Friday, with the Rev. Emory T. Fike, Eglon, W. Va., and the Rev. A. R Showalter, Keyser, officiating. Interment will be made in the Mount Zion church cemetery.

Wed In Church

Miss Edith Mitylene Smith and Carl Richard Ludwick were married in the Washington City Church of the Brethren, Washington, D. C., Saturday, June 29. Mrs. Ludwick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Royer Smith, Washington. Ludwick is the son of Charles D. Ludwick and the late Mrs. Ludwick, Keyser.

On their return from a trip through the New England states the couple will reside in Keyser where Mr. Ludwick is associated with his father in the garage business.

Held Under Bond

Charles Joseph King, 43, was arrested Saturday, on a warrant charging illegal handling and disposing of alcoholic liquors. The arrest was made by L. E. Proudfoot of the state police with the co-operation of the local city police officers.

He waived hearing and is being held under $1,000 bond for the action of the grand jury. King was arrested on a similar charge in April and upon a plea of guilty was assessed a minimum fine. After that incident he promised to refrain from his illicit handling of intoxicants; seemingly he failed to keep that promise, resuming his operations at his home on Armstrong street extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Purdy, Keyser, announce the birth of a daughter, in Potomac Valley hospital.

Coney Citizens Ready for Four Day Homecoming

Program Will Include Parades, Street Carnival, and Banquet

By MISS MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, July 2 — With "Welcome Home" banners flying at both entrances to Lonaconing, the program of events for the "Soldiers' Homecoming" to be celebrated July 3, 4, 5 and 6 is all in readiness.

Sponsored by the citizens of Lonaconing, this "Homecoming" is expected to be the biggest celebration in town since pre-war days when Lonaconing was noted as the "best place to have a good time."

The program committee, Felix T. Foote, chairman, William I. Gephart, J. Thomas Ritchie, Raymond A. Grandstaff, Lowell M. Sowers and Ellis E. Neff, have published the program having as their front piece a picture of the Soldiers' monument, erected in memorium for the soldiers of World War I, and the Honor Roll, expressed by many as one of the most beautiful rolls erected, bearing the names of all those who served in World War II from Lonaconing and vicinity.

As a forword the program committee expressed: "Speakers, musicians and entertainers have been invited from many communities, thereby representing all those who helped make this celebration possible. It is the sincere hope and desire of every member of the program committee that this program will prove successful."

Berkowitz Firm Makes Request For New Factory

Company Representative Confers With Group Of Frostburg Officials

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, July 2 — The mayor and city commissioners held a joint meeting last evening for the purpose of negotiating plans with the Michael Berkowitz Company, Incorporated for the construction of a new factory in Frostburg.

The meeting was the result of a letter received from Benedict Berkowitz last week by Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore in which Berkowitz stated that his company is finding it almost impossible to compete with other manufacturers with the obsolete facilities that now exist here.

Berkowitz informed the mayor that $250,000 will be necessary to erect, equip and provide engineering service to establish a plant here that will compare with other plants manufacturing the same line of goods under modern conditions.

Corporation Proposed

It was suggested by Berkowitz that a corporation be formed here for the purpose of dealing with the company and that bonds for approximately $100,000 be issued for the purpose of erecting a suitable building with about 30,000 square feet of floor space. The bonds are to be secured by a first mortgage on the building and are to be retired at the rate of one-fifteenth of the total issue annually. The bonds will pay two per cent interest annually. In addition the city is asked to make an outright grant of land for the proposed factory building.

In the event that Frostburg decides to provide a new building for the concern, which has been here for 30 years, the company, according to Berkowitz, plans to employ an additional number of persons, increasing their payroll to approximately $20,000 weekly.

The committee appointed by the Frostburg Business Association to co-operate with the city officials in negotiating with Berkowitz, consists of William B. Yates, Ira Langeluttig, E. I. Prichard, F. Earl Kreitzburg and Mayor Skidmore.

Sites recommended include the ground adjoining the park at the community swimming pool, an open space along the C. & P. railroad tracks in Grahamtown, and a tract of land on Route 40 at Sand Spring.

Another Meeting Planned

The committee of the Frostburg Business Association and the mayor and city commissioners will hold another meeting within 10 days or immediately after the land survey of various sites is completed.

The Berkowitz company, which first came to this community through the efforts of the late George Stern, in whose building they first started operation, has been trying for many years to induce the city of Frostburg to provide the company with larger quarters, pointing out that the other towns in which they operate have complied with a similar suggestion. Uniontown, Pa., at past meetings has been mentioned as an example of a community which co-operated with the company, and on one occasion

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., July 2 — Mrs. Martha Jane Kidner Smith, 81, died at her home in Romney at 4:45 a. m. today. She was a native of Hampshire county. Her parents were the late John and Hariet Kidner. On October 31, 1883, she married the Rev. Benjamin Wesley Smith a minister in the Church of the Brethren. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren from girlhood.

The family moved to Mineral county in 1905 and lived on a farm on Beaver Run, near the Brick church where besides his ministerial work her husband operated a farm until he retired in 1945. After his retirement the family moved to Romney.

Besides her widower, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Annie Starnes, Romney; one sister, Mrs Daniel Carlysle, Augusta. There are three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Mount Zion church, near Augusta, at 11 a. m. Friday, with the Rev. Emory T. Fike, Eglon, W. Va., and the Rev. A. R Showalter, Keyser, officiating. Interment will be made in the Mount Zion church cemetery.

Held Under Bond

Charles Joseph King, 43, was arrested Saturday, on a warrant charging illegal handling and disposing of alcoholic liquors. The arrest was made by L. E. Proudfoot of the state police with the co-operation of the local city police officers.

He waived hearing and is being held under $1,000 bond for the action of the grand jury. King was arrested on a similar charge in April and upon a plea of guilty was assessed a minimum fine. After that incident he promised to refrain from his illicit handling of intoxicants; seemingly he failed to keep that promise, resuming his operations at his home on Armstrong street extended.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH MARRIAGE?

There's a cracking good article by Phillip Wylie in the June issue of Cosmopolitan. It has set me thinking. Why, for example, do one fifth of our American marriages end in divorce with the ratio rapidly increasing?

Mr. Wylie has one answer and a good one. He believes that marriage fails so often because men are not trained to be fathers. They all feel that they are thoroughly equipped to be husbands but they are not in the least prepared to cope with its almost inescapable consequences.

That's a fine answer but I doubt if it goes far enough. What's wrong with American marriage? Our whole romantic conception of marriage is wrong. We expect marriage to settle problems and bring results which cannot be solved in single life.

Let's suppose for instance that you have a hot temper. You're not proud of the fact, indeed you're ashamed of it. Yet, even while you admit that it's a demoralizing weakness, you find some excuse for it. You wouldn't be hot-tempered if people didn't annoy you. If you could live in harmonious atmosphere with someone who knew how sensitive you are, there would be no more of these disgraceful exhibitions. Someone like Louella, calm, gentle, patient Louella — the whole course of your life would change.

Then at last the joyous miracle occurs. The wonder girl consents. You are married at last. The soothing atmosphere which you have craved for so long is within your grasp. But have you changed? Alas, you have not. Your hot temper remains with you. So do dozens of other deplorable habits. You still chew your nails. And drop cigar ashes wherever they happen to light, and you're as nervous as ever. You insist on wearing blue suits although your not-so-calm Louella despises them. In fact your mutual irritation over this and that mounts to such a degree that you are divorced even before you know it.

All because of what? All because you have never learned how to grow up.

These untidy habits you have, this nail chewing and ash dropping, are not the product of marriage. They are caused by a little boy who never stopped being a baby and began to live like a mature human being.

No nation on earth gives marriage as fair a break as we do here in these United States. Other nations take marriage as it comes and make due allowance for that part of it which is annoying and impractical. Americans alone still believe in fairy tales. They still think that there is a Santa Claus hiding behind every overstuffed chair. And they are quite sure that the fine frenzy which drove them to the altar will persist undiminished for the next fifty years.

This is sheer nonsense. Nothing lasts as long as that and we would be bored to tears if it did. Marriage is no wonder worker. You may change yourself from a brunette into a blonde overnight but you cannot change that unpredictable and incredible thing called human nature.

What's wrong with American marriage? That's what's wrong. We say a few words . . . repeat a couple of prayers and enter a state of bliss which even an idiot would realize as transient. And then expect this mumbo jumbo to remove all the cussedness and stupidity which we have spent twenty-nine years in accumulating.

Silly, isn't it? Just remember that the next time you feel one of your nervous spells coming on. Divorce lawyers live on fools like you. Yet we still believe that everything would have turned out okay if we had only married the other woman or the other man.

Ken Heintzelman Beats Cubs, 9-0, For Team's Fourth Win In Row

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates continued to play like champions as they gained their fourth straight victory today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 9-0. Ken Heintzelman gained victory No. 6 as he stopped the Cubs on four hits —two of them coming in the ninth.

It was the Pirates' third straight whitewash pitching job. Before Heintzelman moved into the act, Nick Strincevich and Rip Sewell had turned in successive shutouts. Box:

DODGERS WIN ANOTHER

BROOKLYN, July 2 (AP) — The Red-Hot Brooklyn Dodgers rolled up their seventh straight victory today and their tenth in a row over the Philadelphia Phillies when Cokie Lavagetto singled home Art Herring in the ninth inning to break a 2-2 tie and give the league leading Brooks a 3-2 triumph over the Phils.

For the first five frames, Charley Stanceu of the Phils and Kirby Higbe of the Dodgers were locked in a scoreless hurling duel but in the sixth, the Quakers rapped in two runs on an error, Del Ennis's single and Jim Tabor's double to knock Higbe from the hill in favor of Hugh Casey. However, Lippy Leo Durocher's fast-stepping Brooks bounced back with two tallies in their half to tie the count. Box:

BRAVES EDGE GIANTS

BOSTON, July 2 (AP) — The Boston Braves strengthened their hold on Fifth place and sent the Giants deeper into the National League cellar today by whipping the New Yorkers 5-4 with a ninth inning run.

After the Giants had scored once in their half of the last frame to deadlock the game at 4-all, Pinchhitter Bama Rowell opened the Braves' half with a triple off relief hurler Rube Fischer. Phil Masi then beat out a hit and when Third Baseman Bill Rigney threw low to First Baseman Johnny Mize, Rowell scampered home with the deciding tally. Box:

REDS BEAT CARDS

ST. LOUIS, July 2. (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer left 12 St. Louis Cardinals stranded on the bases tonight before he was chased in the ninth by an umpire and his Cincinnati Reds took a 7 to 5 decision on seven unearned runs.

Umpire George Magerkurth ruled Vander Meer from the game when he threw the ball at Enos Slaughter in an argument which ensued after the Red pitcher had tagged the Card outfielder out near first. Bob Malloy, called in hurriedly, was nicked for one run but he bore down to leave two more Cards on base and end things.

The official scorer ruled all runs unearned on the theory that Slaughter could have completed a sure double play retiring the side had he not dropped Grady Hatton's third inning liner on which the first two runs scored. All told the reds got seven tallies that frame on four singles, two errors and a batsman. Four Card runs came the same inning.

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, knocked the Cumberland Outdoor Club out of a second place tie with the B.P.O. Elks by defeating the sportsmen's organization by the score of 3 to 2 in a Rocking Chair Softball League contest on East Side field.

Homer Decides Game

Schrader, first man up in the last of the seventh, hammered a home run to give the Loyal Order of Moose a 2 to 1 decision over the Woodmen of the World, at Campobello. The blow broke up a pitching duel between Jackson and Lee. The former yielded two hits while Lee yielded five safeties.

The Jaycees-Texcel game, scheduled for Fort Hill field, went to Texcel by the forfeit route when the Junior Association was unable to field a team.

Joe Neubiser turned in his fifth straight pitching triumph as the Caseys continued their winning streak. "Bobby" Cavanaugh banged out three doubles and Ray Swach garnered two hits, one being a homer with two aboard during the six-run rally in the second frame. Harrison obtained three of the six hits yielded by Neubiser.

Spangler's Hit Wins

Trailing 2-1 going into the sixth, the Legion pushed over two runs to give "Sparky" Chisholm a 3-2 decision over Harry Raygor, Outdoor Club ace. Boyer walked, John R. Kelly, Jr., singled and Bill Spangler batted over the tying and winning runs with a timely single. Kelly obtained two of the winners' seven hits. The scores:

East Side's Position In Playoff Series Remains Big Secret

C. William Spangler, president of the City Softball League, and other officials of the loop held what was termed a "secret" meeting last night after it was decided that Lacy's Delicatets and the American Legion shall meet Sunday, July 14 at 5:30 p. m. on East Side field in a playoff game to decide the first half title.

The "secret" meeting was held to determine whether East Side's forfeit victory over Williams Street last Sunday would be recognized or whether the teams would be forced to play.

If East Side's forfeit win is accepted it would mean that the winner of the Legion-Lacy's game July 14 would meet East Side to decide first half honors. If East Side is forced to play Williams Street, Manager Goodrich's team must win to get into the playoff series.

Chicago Scores 8-7 Win; Hank Greenberg Poles Twentieth Homer

DETROIT, July 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox cracked a Briggs stadium jinx today by slugging out 16 hits off four Detroit pitchers to nose out the Tigers 8 to 7 for their first victory here this season.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, driven out of the box in the third inning, was the losing pitcher and Orval Grove was the winner although lifted in the seventh in favor of Earl Caldwell during a four-run Tiger uprising that fell one short of tying the score.

Hank Greenberg clouted his 20th home run with a man on base in the first inning and drove in four runs with three hits but committed a costly error that led to what ultimately was Chicago's winning run in the seventh. Box:

CLEVELAND, July 2 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians blasted 12 hits off Tex Shirley today to defeat St. Louis 4 to 2 and move into fifth place in the American league. Rookie Bob Lemon held the Browns to one hit in three innings of relief hurling to gain credit for the victory.

Les Fleming, stocky Tribe first baseman, led the Cleveland attack with three hits in four trips, but Manager Lou Boudreau delivered a single which plated the deciding run in the eighth. Box:

MEET THE NEW RACING SECRETARY

WILLIAM M. SHEWBRIDGE, owner, trainer and breeder of thoroughbreds for 12 years, and racing official since 1930, is the new racing secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association, which will stage its annual ten-day meeting at Fairgo, beginning Tuesday, August 20. Shewbridge succeeds Edward J. Brennan, who resigned to give his full time to the racing association which operates the new Monmouth Park track at Oceanport, N. J.

SHEWBRIDGE IS RACING VETERAN, HAS BEEN IN GAME FOR 28 YEARS

William M. Shewbridge, who succeeds Edward J. Brennan as racing secretary for the Cumberland Fair Association, has been associated with thoroughbred racing since 1918.

From 1918 to 1930 he spent twelve years as an owner, trainer and breeder of race horses. Since 1930 he has served as an official.

During his training career he trained many winners, including those saddled at Fairgo. He has had assignments at various race tracks in Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey and Louisiana.

"Bill," as he is more familiarly known to his many friends, has filled the positions of paddock judge, placing judge, racing secretary and steward and currently is serving as steward at the Monmouth Park track at Oceanport, N. J.

Shewbridge will also serve as racing secretary at Timonium and Hagerstown this year.

"My appointment to the position of racing secretary at Cumberland is indeed a very happy occasion for me because I have been associated with the Cumberland Fair Association in every official capacity since the first running meeting inaugurated in the late twenties," Shewbridge writes.

Ball Park Grandstand Is Declared Safe Now By Ralph L. Rizer

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday announced that the grandstand at Community Park is now safe and will be opened to accommodate spectators for the Interstate Baseball League game here tomorrow.

Rizer said he made a thorough inspection of the stands yesterday after improvements had been made by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, lessee of the park.

The grandstand was condemned as unsafe several weeks ago by Rizer and was boarded up. Spectators have been viewing the games from a standing position or from several benches erected off the first base line.

Pounding the offerings of two flingers for 14 hits, including seven for extra bases, the Queen City Brewers easily defeated the Loyal Order of Moose in a City Baseball League game yesterday at Stitcher field by the score of 12-0.

It was the Moose team's seventh consecutive defeat in league contests.

Bobby Doak with a home run, triple and single led the Brewers' attack while Harry Minnicks connected for a double and two singles. Lou Riehl also hit for the circuit.

While the Brewers were blasting the slants of Welch and McCarty, the Moose batsmen were being limited to three singles by Reynolds and Stitcher, who twirled three and four frames. The Queen City boxmen struck out nine batters.

Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, won by forfeit over the Fraternal Order of Eagles when the latter club was unable to field a team for the game scheduled at Community Park.

There will be no Thursday games in the league on account of the July 4 holiday. The box:

"Spud" Chandler Twirls Two-Hitter, Fans Nine To Win Mound Duel From Harris

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Spurgeon Chandler treated an all-time night game record of 68,617 paid admissions to a brilliant two-hit pitching performance as he hurled the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the American League-leading Boston Red Sox tonight.

Chandler, in registering his 12th victory against only three defeats, allowed only two safeties and struck out nine batters, but was constantly in hot water because of nine bases on balls.

Lefty Mickey Harris, who earlier this season had been victorious over Chandler in another sizzling pitching duel, was the victim of the veteran sinker ball experts masterful mound chore. The Red Sox curve baller himself allowed only five hits, but unfortunately for him, all were bunched in the second and third innings to account for both Yankee runs.

Chandler was miserable and masterful, in turn, as he held the Red Sox in check for the first three frames. After fanning two batters in the opening session, Spud got himself in a jam by walking three Bosox in the second, but he fanned Harris to end the frame. Box:

DODGERS WIN ANOTHER

BROOKLYN, July 2 (AP) — The Red-Hot Brooklyn Dodgers rolled up their seventh straight victory today and their tenth in a row over the Philadelphia Phillies when Cokie Lavagetto singled home Art Herring in the ninth inning to break a 2-2 tie and give the league leading Brooks a 3-2 triumph over the Phils.

For the first five frames, Charley Stanceu of the Phils and Kirby Higbe of the Dodgers were locked in a scoreless hurling duel but in the sixth, the Quakers rapped in two runs on an error, Del Ennis's single and Jim Tabor's double to knock Higbe from the hill in favor of Hugh Casey. However, Lippy Leo Durocher's fast-stepping Brooks bounced back with two tallies in their half to tie the count. Box:

BRAVES EDGE GIANTS

BOSTON, July 2 (AP) — The Boston Braves strengthened their hold on Fifth place and sent the Giants deeper into the National League cellar today by whipping the New Yorkers 5-4 with a ninth inning run.

After the Giants had scored once in their half of the last frame to deadlock the game at 4-all, Pinch-hitter Bama Rowell opened the Braves' half with a triple off relief hurler Rube Fischer. Phil Masi then beat out a hit and when Third Baseman Bill Rigney threw low to First Baseman Johnny Mize, Rowell scampered home with the deciding tally. Box:

REDS BEAT CARDS

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer left 12 St. Louis Cardinals stranded on the bases tonight before he was chased in the ninth by an umpire and his Cincinnati Reds took a 7 to 5 decision on seven unearned runs.

Umpire George Magerkurth ruled Vander Meer from the game when he threw the ball at Enos Slaughter in an argument which ensued after the Red pitcher had tagged the Card outfielder out near first. Bob Malloy, called in hurriedly, was nicked for one run but he bore down to leave two more Cards on base and end things.

The official scorer ruled all runs unearned on the theory that Slaughter could have completed a sure double play retiring the side had he not dropped Grady Hatton's third inning liner on which the first two runs scored. All told the Reds got seven tallies that frame on four singles, two errors and a batsman. Four Card runs came the same inning.

The loss fourth in a row for the

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, knocked the Cumberland Outdoor Club out of a second place tie with the B.P.O. Elks by defeating the sportsmen's organization by the score of 3 to 2 in a Rocking Chair Softball League contest on East Side field.

The Elks remained in the runner-up spot by defeating the Knights of Pythias to the tune of 19 to 3 on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Homer Decides Game

Schrader, first man up in the last of the seventh, hammered a home run to give the Loyal Order of Moose a 2 to 1 decision over the Woodmen of the World, at Campobello. The blow broke up a pitching duel between Jackson and Lee. The former yielded two hits while Lee yielded five safeties.

The Jaycees-Texcel game, scheduled for Fort Hill field, went to Texcel by the forfeit route when the Junior Association was unable to field a team.

Joe Neubiser turned in his fifth straight pitching triumph as the Caseys continued their winning streak. "Bobby" Cavanaugh banged out three doubles and Ray Swach garnered two hits, one being a homer with two aboard during the six-run rally in the second frame. Harrison obtained three of the six hits yielded by Neubiser.

Spangler's Hit Wins

Trailing 2-1 going into the sixth, the Legion pushed over two runs to give "Sparky" Chisholm a 3-2 decision over Harry Raygor, Outdoor Club ace. Boyer walked, John R. Kelly, Jr., singled and Bill Spangler batted over the tying and winning runs with a timely single. Kelly obtained two of the winners' seven hits. The scores:

East Side's Position In Playoff Series Remains Big Secret

C. William Spangler, president of the City Softball League, and other officials of the loop held what was termed a "secret" meeting last night after it was decided that Lacy's Delicatets and the American Legion shall meet Sunday, July 14 at 5:30 p. m. on East Side field in a playoff game to decide the first half title.

The "secret" meeting was held to determine whether East Side's forfeit victory over Williams Street last Sunday would be recognized or whether the teams would be forced to play.

If East Side's forfeit win is accepted it would mean that the winner of the Legion-Lacy's game July 14 would meet East Side to decide first half honors. If East Side is forced to play Williams Street, Manager Goodrich's team must win to get into the playoff series.

Chicago Scores 8-7 Win; Hank Greenberg Poles Twentieth Homer

DETROIT, July 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox cracked a Briggs stadium jinx today by slugging out 16 hits off four Detroit pitchers to nose out the Tigers 8 to 7 for their first victory here this season.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, driven out of the box in the third inning, was the losing pitcher and Orval Grove was the winner although lifted in the seventh in favor of Earl Caldwell during a four-run Tiger uprising that fell one short of tying the score.

Hank Greenberg clouted his 20th home run with a man on base in the first inning and drove in four runs with three hits but committed a costly error that led to what ultimately was Chicago's winning run in the seventh. Box:

WILLIAM M. SHEWBRIDGE, owner, trainer and breeder of thoroughbreds for 12 years, and racing official since 1930, is the new racing secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association, which will stage its annual ten-day meeting at Fairgo, beginning Tuesday, August 20. Shewbridge succeeds Edward J. Brennan, who resigned to give his full time to the racing association which operates the new Monmouth Park track at Oceanport, N. J.

SHEWBRIDGE IS RACING VETERAN, HAS BEEN IN GAME FOR 28 YEARS

William M. Shewbridge, who succeeds Edward J. Brennan as racing secretary for the Cumberland Fair Association, has been associated with thoroughbred racing since 1918.

From 1918 to 1930 he spent twelve years as an owner, trainer and breeder of race horses. Since 1930 he has served as an official.

During his training career he trained many winners, including those saddled at Fairgo. He has had assignments at various race tracks in Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey and Louisiana.

"Bill," as he is more familiarly known to his many friends, has filled the positions of paddock judge, placing judge, racing secretary and steward and currently is serving as steward at the Monmouth Park track at Oceanport, N. J.

Shewbridge will also serve as racing secretary at Timonium and Hagerstown this year.

"My appointment to the position of racing secretary at Cumberland is indeed a very happy occasion for me because I have been associated with the Cumberland Fair Association in every official capacity since the first running meeting inaugurated in the late twenties," Shewbridge writes.

Ball Park Grandstand Is Declared Safe Now By Ralph L. Rizer

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday announced that the grandstand at Community Park is now safe and will be opened to accommodate spectators for the Interstate Baseball League game here tomorrow.

Rizer said he made a thorough inspection of the stands yesterday after improvements had been made by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, lessee of the park.

The grandstand was condemned as unsafe several weeks ago by Rizer and was boarded up. Spectators have been viewing the games from a standing position or from several benches erected off the first base line.

Pounding the offerings of two flingers for 14 hits, including seven for extra bases, the Queen City Brewers easily defeated the Loyal Order of Moose in a City Baseball League game yesterday at Stitcher field by the score of 12-0.

It was the Moose team's seventh consecutive defeat in league contests.

Bobby Doak with a home run, triple and single led the Brewers' attack while Harry Minnicks connected for a double and two singles. Lou Riehl also hit for the circuit.

While the Brewers were blasting the slants of Welch and McCarty, the Moose batsmen were being limited to three singles by Reynolds and Stitcher, who twirled three and four frames. The Queen City boxmen struck out nine batters.

Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, won by forfeit over the Fraternal Order of Eagles when the latter club was unable to field a team for the game scheduled at Community Park.

There will be no Thursday games in the league on account of the July 4 holiday. The box:

"Spud" Chandler Twirls Two-Hitter, Fans Nine To Win Mound Duel From Harris

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Spurgeon Chandler treated an all-time night game record of 68,617 paid admissions to a brilliant two-hit pitching performance as he hurled the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the American League-leading Boston Red Sox tonight.

Chandler, in registering his 12th victory against only three defeats, allowed only two safeties and struck out nine batters, but was constantly in hot water because of nine bases on balls.

Lefty Mickey Harris, who earlier this season had been victorious over Chandler in another sizzling pitching duel, was the victim of the veteran sinker ball experts masterful mound chore. The Red Sox curve baller himself allowed only five hits, but unfortunately for him, all were bunched in the second and third innings to account for both Yankee runs.

Chandler was miserable and masterful, in turn, as he held the Red Sox in check for the first three frames. After fanning two batters in the opening session, Spud got himself in a jam by walking three Bosox in the second, but he fanned Harris to end the frame. Box:

Redskins Report Rapid Change In Personnel

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Next season the Washington Redskins will be a decidedly changed team from the lineup which won the National League's Eastern division title last fall.

Club officials disclosed today that the return of a flood of material from the armed forces since last December has resulted in a rapid change in personnel. Only half of the 1945 players now are on the roster.

Latest 1945 player to go is Al Piasecky, veteran end, released outright. Other changes are contemplated before a squad of 42 heads for the club's Los Angeles training camp next month.

Sam Snead Leads Four Americans In British Open

Bulla, Little, Kirkwood Turn In Comfortable Qualifying Scores

By VIC HACKLER

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 2 (AP)—Two rounds of qualifying play in the British Open Golf Tournament ended tonight with the favored British and American players still in the field, but none burning up the courses enough to single him out as "the man to beat."

Four American professionals enter the championship rounds tomorrow with comfortable qualifying totals and a showing so far that labels them still a big threat to the men from the British empire.

Sammy Posts 149

Sam Snead scored 74-75—149; Johnny Bulla, 77-74—151; Lawson Little, 76-75—151; and Joe Kirkwood, 74-78—152. Par for each of the two courses over which the qualifying rounds were played is 73.

All have been playing extremely well up to the greens, but not an American putter has got hot yet If anything, lengthening the famous old course has improved the Americans' chances because 20 extra yards or so mean little to these long hitters. They have placed their drives well enough to miss most of the yawning traps known to golfers around the world.

The two British pros who have been hottest in recent tournaments and are prime favorites here were right with their American rivals in the qualifying totals. Bobby Locke, South African champion, had a second 75 today for a 36-hole 150. Dai Rees, the little Welsh professional, had one of the field's sub-par rounds—a 72—yesterday, but today he needed 78 strokes on the old course for a total of 150.

Burton Drops To 156

Dick Burton, who won the last British open in 1939 and who just returned from a disappointing tour of the United States, had even more trouble on the new course today than he had on the old course yesterday. His 80 today gave him an aggregate of 156, which got him safely into the qualifying round.

HEADS RACE GROUP

Reckord Is Named Havre De Grace Track President

Adjutant General Chosen By Harford Association To Succeed Burke

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., July 2 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland and former commanding general of the 29th Division and the Third Service Command, today became president of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association, operators of the Havre de Grace race track.

He succeeds Edward Burke, who is resigning active direction of the track because of advancing age and ill health after nine years as vice president, general manager and president. Burke becomes treasurer.

"It will be my earnest endeavor," said General Reckord in a statement accompanying the announcement of his election, "to keep racing at Havre de Grace on the highest possible level and to work with officials of other Maryland tracks and the Maryland Racing Commission in elevating the standards of racing throughout the state.

"I consider racing in Maryland an established institution, closely tied with the people of the state; and by large contributions to the treasury of the state, through heavy taxes, it is an institution which is here to stay."

It is the first active connection with a sports enterprise for the prominent Baltimorean. Born in Harford county, the 66-year-old military man has been connected with Maryland's National Guard since 1901.

He rose to colonel and commanded the 115th regiment of the American Expeditionary Force in World War 1, receiving the Distinguished Service Medal and the French Croix De Guerre with palm.

Reckord became a major general in 1934. During the recent war he served as commander of the 29th division when it was called into the federal service, as commanding general of the Third Service Command, as provost marshal on General Eisenhower's staff in the European theater for a year and a half, and in the office of the chief of staff in Washington. This brought him a second Distinguished Service Medal.

British Boxing Champ Returns To London

Dekdebrun Joins Stars

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Quarterback Allen Dekdebrun, a Wyoming seminary student in 1942 and captain of Cornell's football team last year, today was added to the college squad which will play the Los Angeles Rams in the 13th annual all-star game in Soldiers Field Aug. 23.

Margaret Osborne Beats Doris Hart At Wimbledon

By BILL MACKLIN

WIMBLEDON, July 2—(AP)—Turning his hand to doubles, Tom Brown of San Francisco continued to swat his way victoriously through the All-England tennis championship today, though he was forced temporarily to divide the limelight with the women's delegation from his state.

Margaret Osborne

While the coast sensation and his partner, Jack Kramer, were battling their way through two matches into the semi-final round of men's doubles, three California girls, Margaret Osborne, Louise Brough and Dorothy Bundy sailed into next to the last round of women's singles, virtually assuring an All-American semi-final on Thursday.

Brown To Face Petra

Brown, whose singles engagement tomorrow with Yvon Petra, the towering French Davis Cup star, promises to produce one of the most thrilling matches of the tournament, proved equally adept in doubles as he and Kramer slashed their way past two opposing teams.

First the No. 2 seeded Americans overwhelmed a young British pair, Tony Mottram and Bob Nicoll, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, and then after a short rest returned to batter down Sweden's crack Davis Cup doubles combination of Lennart Bergelin and Torsten Johannsson, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, to enter the semi-finals.

Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica scored perhaps the day's outstanding victory in the women's division when she rallied from a losing first set to eliminate Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies, veteran British star, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. With Mrs. Menzies' exit probably went Britain's last chance of averting the first All-American women's semi-final in Wimbledon history.

Miss Orborne Advances

For sheer fight, however, the match between Miss Osborne and Doris Hart of Miami, Wightman Cup teammates, was voted the day's top show. Miss Osborne, seeded No. 2, not only dropped the first set to the Florida girl, seeded No. 7, but was forced to extend herself to the limit before she finally won out, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Brough had a comparatively easy time eliminating the promising young British star, Mrs. Jean Nicoll Bostock, 6-1, 6-2. The pairing for the semi-final pits Miss Brough against Miss Osborne, and Miss Bundy against the winner of tomorrow's delayed quarter-final between Pauline Betz of California and Joan Curry of England. Miss Betz, the No. 1 seeded American and tournament favorite, was expected to dispose of Miss Curry without difficulty.

After her defeat by Miss Bundy, Mrs. Menzies, who for 10 years has been a world figure in women's tennis, said she probably had played in her last big tournament.

Golfer Is Disqualified For Practice Putting

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 2 (AP)—J. Panton, a young Scottish professional, was disqualified by the championship committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club today upon information supplied by himself.

Last night he practiced putting on the new course over which he was to have played the second qualifying round today. He was unaware that he was breaking a rule but when he learned this was the case he reported it to the committee. No one had seen him putting.

The decision was disqualification but Panton played around the new course today with his partner and had a 77 which would have given him a qualifying aggregate of 155 and sent him safely on to the championship rounds.

Sam Snead Leads Four Americans In British Open

By VIC HACKLER

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 2 (AP)—Two rounds of qualifying play in the British Open Golf Tournament ended tonight with the favored British and American players still in the field, but none burning up the courses enough to single him out as "the man to beat."

Four American professionals enter the championship rounds tomorrow with comfortable qualifying totals and a showing so far that labels them still a big threat to the men from the British empire.

Sammy Posts 149

Sam Snead scored 74-75—149; Johnny Bulla, 77-74—151; Lawson Little, 76-75—151; and Joe Kirkwood, 74-78—152. Par for each of the two courses over which the qualifying rounds were played is 73.

All have been playing extremely well up to the greens, but not an American putter has got hot yet If anything, lengthening the famous old course has improved the Americans' chances because 20 extra yards or so mean little to these long hitters. They have placed their drives well enough to miss most of the yawning traps known to golfers around the world.

The two British pros who have been hottest in recent tournaments and are prime favorites here were right with their American rivals in the qualifying totals. Bobby Locke, South African champion, had a second 75 today for a 36-hole 150. Dai Rees, the little Welsh professional, had one of the field's sub-par rounds—a 72—yesterday, but today he needed 78 strokes on the old course for a total of 150.

Burton Drops To 156

Dick Burton, who won the last British open in 1939 and who just returned from a disappointing tour of the United States, had even more trouble on the new course today than he had on the old course yesterday. His 80 today gave him an aggregate of 156, which got him safely into the qualifying round.

HEADS RACE GROUP

Reckord Is Named Havre De Grace Track President

Adjutant General Chosen By Harford Association To Succeed Burke

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., July 2 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland and former commanding general of the 29th Division and the Third Service Command, today became president of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association, operators of the Havre de Grace race track.

He succeeds Edward Burke, who is resigning active direction of the track because of advancing age and ill health after nine years as vice president, general manager and president. Burke becomes treasurer.

"It will be my earnest endeavor," said General Reckord in a statement accompanying the announcement of his election, "to keep racing at Havre de Grace on the highest possible level and to work with officials of other Maryland tracks and the Maryland Racing Commission in elevating the standards of racing throughout the state.

"I consider racing in Maryland an established institution, closely tied with the people of the state; and by large contributions to the treasury of the state, through heavy taxes, it is an institution which is here to stay."

It is the first active connection with a sports enterprise for the prominent Baltimorean. Born in Harford county, the 66-year-old military man has been connected with Maryland's National Guard since 1901.

He rose to colonel and commanded the 115th regiment of the American Expeditionary Force in World War 1, receiving the Distinguished Service Medal and the French Croix De Guerre with palm.

Reckord became a major general in 1934. During the recent war he served as commander of the 29th division when it was called into the federal service, as commanding general of the Third Service Command, as provost marshal on General Eisenhower's staff in the European theater for a year and a half, and in the office of the chief of staff in Washington. This brought him a second Distinguished Service Medal.

British Boxing Champ Returns To London

Dekdebrun Joins Stars

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Quarterback Allen Dekdebrun, a Wyoming seminary student in 1942 and captain of Cornell's football team last year, today was added to the college squad which will play the Los Angeles Rams in the 13th annual all-star game in Soldiers Field Aug. 23.

Margaret Osborne Beats Doris Hart At Wimbledon

By BILL MACKLIN

WIMBLEDON, July 2—(AP)—Turning his hand to doubles, Tom Brown of San Francisco continued to swat his way victoriously through the All-England tennis championship today, though he was forced temporarily to divide the limelight with the women's delegation from his state.

Margaret Osborne

While the coast sensation and his partner, Jack Kramer, were battling their way through two matches into the semi-final round of men's doubles, three California girls, Margaret Osborne, Louise Brough and Dorothy Bundy sailed into next to the last round of women's singles, virtually assuring an All-American semi-final on Thursday.

Brown To Face Petra

Brown, whose singles engagement tomorrow with Yvon Petra, the towering French Davis Cup star, promises to produce one of the most thrilling matches of the tournament, proved equally adept in doubles as he and Kramer slashed their way past two opposing teams.

First the No. 2 seeded Americans overwhelmed a young British pair, Tony Mottram and Bob Nicoll, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, and then after a short rest returned to batter down Sweden's crack Davis Cup doubles combination of Lennart Bergelin and Torsten Johannsson, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, to enter the semi-finals.

Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica scored perhaps the day's outstanding victory in the women's division when she rallied from a losing first set to eliminate Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies, veteran British star, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. With Mrs. Menzies' exit probably went Britain's last chance of averting the first All-American women's semi-final in Wimbledon history.

Miss Orborne Advances

For sheer fight, however, the match between Miss Osborne and Doris Hart of Miami, Wightman Cup teammates, was voted the day's top show. Miss Osborne, seeded No. 2, not only dropped the first set to the Florida girl, seeded No. 7, but was forced to extend herself to the limit before she finally won out, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Brough had a comparatively easy time eliminating the promising young British star, Mrs. Jean Nicoll Bostock, 6-1, 6-2. The pairing for the semi-final pits Miss Brough against Miss Osborne, and Miss Bundy against the winner of tomorrow's delayed quarter-final between Pauline Betz of California and Joan Curry of England. Miss Betz, the No. 1 seeded American and tournament favorite, was expected to dispose of Miss Curry without difficulty.

After her defeat by Miss Bundy, Mrs. Menzies, who for 10 years has been a world figure in women's tennis, said she probably had played in her last big tournament.

Academy Award Theatre Moves Into New Slot

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 3—The Academy Award Theater, recently introduced on CBS Saturdays, falls into a new slot on the network—Wednesday nights at 9, considered a better time. This is the former Island Venture spot.

In moving, the theater is to radioize "The Maltese Cross" and in doing so is calling a movie trio, headed by Humphrey Bogart, to do the acting. Sydney Greenstreet and Mary Astor are the others. Bogart will play a detective instead of being on the other side of the law.

Victor Borge, whose radio introduction in 1941 is credited to Bing, will be in the Crosby—(that is Bob)—on CBS at 8:30. Borge turns out comedy at the piano.

Unless there is another of last-minute changes like last week, when Ilka Chase replaced Chester Bowles, Author Meets the Critics is calling the author of "The Lost Weekend" to its MBS microphone at 9:30. He is Charles Jackson.

McGarry and His Mouse, the detective series—yes another one—that took over in the Cantor NBC spot at 8 for the summer does its stuff with the acting help of Wendell Corey, Peggy Cokhn, Betty Garde, Thelma Ritter and Arnold Roberston. In this instance the MOUSE is the feminine assistant of McGarry, who amateur detects.

Invitation to Music of CBS at 10:30 will have Jacques Abram as soloist with Bernard Herrman conducting the orchestra again.

Summer replacement for the Jack Carson show on CBS at 7 has been picked. It turns out to be another mystery series, this one with a whistling detective. The result title of the program is "The Whistler."

—Central Siberia, in which in winter at times the themometer registers sixty and sometimes as low as seventy-five degrees, has the coldest climate of any habitable portion of the globe.

Academy Award Theatre Moves Into New Slot

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 2—The Academy Award Theater, recently introduced on CBS Saturdays, falls into a new slot on the network—Wednesday nights at 9, considered a better time. This is the former Island Venture spot.

In moving, the theater is to radioize "The Maltese Cross" and in doing so is calling a movie trio, headed by Humphrey Bogart, to do the acting. Sydney Greenstreet and Mary Astor are the others. Bogart will play a detective instead of being on the other side of the law.

Victor Borge, whose radio introduction in 1941 is credited to Bing, will be in the Crosby—(that is Bob)—on CBS at 8:30. Borge turns out comedy at the piano.

Unless there is another of last-minute changes like last week, when Ilka Chase replaced Chester Bowles, Author Meets the Critics is calling the author of "The Lost Weekend" to its MBS microphone at 9:30. He is Charles Jackson.

McGarry and His Mouse, the detective series—yes another one—that took over in the Cantor NBC spot at 8 for the summer does its stuff with the acting help of Wendell Corey, Peggy Coklun, Betty Garde, Thelma Ritter and Arnold Roberston. In this instance the MOUSE is the feminine assistant of McGarry, who amateur detects.

Invitation to Music of CBS at 10:30 will have Jacques Abram as soloist with Bernard Herrman conducting the orchestra again.

Summer replacement for the Jack Carson show on CBS at 7 has been picked. It turns out to be another mystery series, this one with a whistling detective. The result title of the program is "The Whistler."

—Central Siberia, in which in winter at times the themometer registers sixty and sometimes as low as seventy-five degrees, has the coldest climate of any habitable portion of the globe.

Times listed are those supplied by networks. Relay times by local stations may vary in some instances.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Marie C. Carter, Plaintiff Vs. Herschell V. Carter, Defendant.

No. 19384 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The bill of complaint states that the parties were married on the 2nd day of March, 1931, in Cleveland, Ohio; that two children were born of the marriage, Joan M. now ten years of age and Carol R. now six years of age; that the defendant, without just cause or reason deserted and abandoned the plaintiff on the 15th day of February, 1944, that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland and has been for more than one year next preceding her filing of this bill of complaint, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, his present address unknown to the Plaintiff.

It is thereupon ordered this 26th. day of June, 1946, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 26th. day of July, 1946, give notice to the said non-resident defendant of the object of this suit, warning him to appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 12th. day of August, 1946, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed
Clerk.

Magistrate Holds Frank Sam Reid On Rape Charge

Ex-Soldier Is Held Without Bond For Washington County Court

Frank Sam Reid, 25-year-old ex-army first lieutenant, of the 300 block Green street, was held without bond for action of the November term of Washington County Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing at Clear Spring yesterday afternoon on a charge that he raped Helen Mongold, 28, 527 Broadway circle, a Cumberland laundry office worker, early last Thursday morning near Hagerstown.

Reid, who has been held in the Washington county jail at Hagerstown since last Thursday afternoon, had been charged with assault with intent to rape Miss Mongold, but the charge was changed to the more serious one of rape during the course of the proceedings conducted yesterday by Magistrate Hoss Fite.

Reid Fails To Testify

Represented by three lawyers, two from Hagerstown and one from Cumberland, Reid did not take the witness stand to refute evidence of Miss Mongold and other state witnesses.

State's Attorney Martin Ingram said Miss Mongold testified that forced intercourse took place between her and Reid. He added that Sheriff J. B. Huyett and Washington County Investigator Thomas Stauhs testified that Reid admitted to them he attacked Miss Reid and had forced intercourse with her.

According to Magistrate Fite, Dr. Perry Prather, Hagerstown physician who examined Miss Mongold after the alleged attack, testified that she apparently was raped. He added that Reid, when he was examined, bore tooth prints on his arm and also was scratched.

Miss Mongold related from the witness stand in the tiny court room how she drove with Reid from Cumberland to Hagerstown. She said that she drank two or three glasses of beer, according to the magistrate, and that she refused to drink whisky that Reid tried to force on her.

Washington County Investigator Stauhs testified, Magistrate Fite said, that Reid told him he had been drinking heavily.

Eye Still Bruised

He added that a dress Reid allegedly tore from Miss Mongold was presented in evidence at the hearing as well as towels and bed clothing from Fairview cabins where Reid and Miss Mongold were registered about 5 a. m. last Thursday.

Mrs. Stephen Sandels, one of the owners of the cabins, testified that the cabin in which Miss Mongold and Reid registered was a "mess of blood" when she went there Thursday morning, according to Magistrate Fite.

Authorities previously had reported that Reid beat Miss Mongold when she resisted his advances last Thursday and left her unconscious along the road. He later returned, they said, picked her up and drove her to Fairview cabins and registered.

Earl E. Manges, Cumberland and Charles F. Wagaman and Kenneth McLaughlin, Hagerstown, are attorneys for Reid.

The supposition was last night that attorneys for Reid will attempt to secure his release from jail on a writ of habeas corpus.

WORKSHOP FOR BLIND CAN BE SUED HERE, JUDGE DECIDES

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind can be sued in Allegany County Circuit Court and hearing in the proceedings filed by James William O'Neal, blind operator of the vending stand in the post office lobby, against the agency will be conducted later, Chief Judge William A. Huster ruled in an opinion handed down yesterday in circuit court.

O'Neal, represented by Morris Baron, filed a petition April 29 against the workshop on the grounds that the agency was trying to take control of the stand he has operated for 11 years. The workshop, in an answer, denied the local court had jurisdiction and contended that the agency was not in business in this county. The workshop asked dismissal of the action.

In his opinion Judge Huster stated that the workshop is a body corporate, created by act of the legislature, with the right to sue and be sued. The jurist also cited Article 23, Section 110 of the annotated code of Maryland, which provides that every corporation of the state and every foreign corporation subject to suit in the state may be sued in any county or the city of Baltimore, as the case may be, where its principal office in this state is located or where it regularly does business.

Wade Pugh, McCoole, Is Struck By Car

Wade Pugh, 23, McCoole, was a patient in Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, W. Va., last night with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile near his home late Monday night.

State Trooper A. M. Sploch, who investigated, said Pugh was running from his home to flag down a bus to Keyser and ran in front of the automobile operated by Herschel Hedrick, Keyser.

James A. Close, Local Printer, Dies Suddenly

Times And Alleganian Company Employe Leaves Meeting Because Of Pain

James A. Close, 50, 308 Harrison street, a printer and assistant night foreman of the Times and Alleganian Company, where he learned his trade and had been steadily employed since a boy of 13, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock at his home.

Mr. Close worked Monday night as usual, and yesterday afternoon, attended a meeting of the Allied Printing Trades Council at Trades Council hall on Frederick street, as a delegate of the Typographical union. During the meeting, he went to the door to get some air, but insisted he was not ill. At 2:45 p. m. however, he asked to be excused, saying he was not sick, but had a little pain in his arm.

Goes To His Room

After arriving home, he went directly to his room, without saying anything to any member of the family. Mrs. Close heard him cough and moan and ran to him. She summoned a physician who came immediately, but Mr. Close died, apparently from a heart attack, in a matter of minutes.

He was an active member of Cumberland Local No. 244, Typographical Union of which he was a past president and over a period of years had held other offices. He was chairman of the union's Memorial committee for the present term. He was also a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, and St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Mr. Close was a native of Midland, born Jhly 5, 1896. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Close, of this city. His father served several terms as judge of the orphans court here. He came to Cumberland as a boy. Soon afterwards he became interested in printing and persuaded his parents to let him learn the trade. He started to work on the Cumberland Times, before he was 14, and remained a loyal employee of the company, the rest of his lifetime.

Admitted to Union in 1914

In the composing room, where the printers' names and numbers appear on a board, Mr. Close's tag shows his name and bears the date of his admittance to the Typographical Union as January 1, 1914. His tag number, which indicates his seniority in the shop, is No. 3. While a comparative young man, he was one of the oldest employes in years of service, and he was regarded by his fellow craftsman as a hard worker and an able and experienced printer. He was known to them and all his friends as "Jimmy."

In recent years, he had been assistant foreman of the shop and foreman of the ad alley.

Survivors Listed

Besides his widow, Mrs. Sarah A. Murray Close, he is survived by two sons and one daughter, Wilbur William Close, his eldest son followed his father into the printing trades and is associated with the Mountain Democrat in Oakland. Donald Murray Close, also interested in the graphic arts is employed here as a photo-engraver. Both sons are veterans of World War II. His daughter is Sarah Patricia Close, a student at Fort Hill high school.

He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Grace Snyder, of Martinsburg, W. Va., Mrs. Joseph L. Wolfe, Patterson avenue, this city; and Mrs. Paul Funk, Baltimore.

The body will remain at Stein's funeral home, pending funeral arrangemnets.

Celanese Plans For War II Vets Outlined To VFW

Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars dispensed with the usual business meeting last night and heard an outline of the Celanese Corporation of America's program for bettering conditions for the returning veterans by A. Florian Wilson, veterans' representative at the local plant.

Following the speaking program 13 new members were initiated and James K. Kloran, junior vice commander was appointed to deliver the monthly radio address July 11 over the local station on "Speak Up for Democracy."

James L. Thrasher, senior vice commander, said the housing committee will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Union street home.

The building committee is expected to meet next week to discuss further plans for purchasing a lot on South Centre street across from the state armory as a site for the new home.

The local post has had a phenomenal growth since V-J day, and officers admitted the membership is expected to grow rapidly for several months. If this is true, members said, the organization's present home would be inadequate.

The lot considered is owned by Mrs. W. W. Brown and has a 50 foot frontage with 150 feet depth.

MACARONI EMPLOYES REJECT WAGE OFFER

J. L. McDermott, union president, reported all but three or four of the union members turned down the offer which would have frozen wages until April 1, 1947.

The union official said the union is insisting on a 10 cent hourly wage boost with a thirty-day reopening clause or a 15 cent increase if wages are to be frozen until the contract expires June 1, 1947. Workers at the Thomas street plant struck June 7 as a result of the wage dispute.

Local police said the Bloss vehicle was traveling west on Fourth street when the accident occurred. No Charges were preferred.

State police investigated an accident in Barton where a car in which an unidentified woman was riding skidded on the wet road while rounding a curve, and careened across the highway against the cement steps at the home of Verda L. Michael.

Several Technicalities Involved In Raising Rents, Lewis Asserts

Edgar M. Lewis, chief clerk of peoples court, gave a chuckle yesterday as he lay down his pencil after interviewing the 26th local landlord on the subject of increasing rent now that the OPA no longer has control over such matters.

It's all very well, explained Lewis, and there isn't one thing that we can do to prevent rent increases, even if they want to triple the present sum, but there are a few technicalities that will hold most rents at present levels until the first of September, anyway.

"We have received several notices from landlords that they want to increase the rents immediately . . . some even want to jump the price for the present month after already collecting for July, but it can't be done and any tenant who seeks legal protection can feel sure that one more pay term will pay with the present rates still in effect," Lewis said.

The word "term" is the thing that is going to stop a lot of greedy landlords from jumping in and increasing rents before OPA is cold, Lewis explained. It works something like this:

Must Give Term Notice

"If a tenant has already paid his rent for July, and most monthly renters have, the landlord will have to give them a full term of notice before they can increase the rent. That means that September 1 will be the first period following a full term of rent since OPA has been voided," Lewis explained.

Of course, with weekly renters the setup will work a little differently, since the term of tenancy will be only for a week instead of for a month as is the case for those who are paying monthly.

"Take the case of a man who just left here," Lewis said. "He collected rent yesterday for his apartment and then today he notified the tenant that he rent would be increased effective next Monday. That tenant isn't going to pay the increase next Monday . . .not if he is acquainted with local law, because next Monday will not be a full pay

Local Man Is Hurt In Fall From Roof

Walter L. Fields, 30, 215 Carroll street, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock for a fractured right foot. He told attaches he was injured when he fell from the roof of a two-story building.

Dorothy Mallow, 17, Flintstone, was treated yesterday morning in Allegany hospital for burns about the arm and both legs. She said she spilled hot tar on herself.

Tax Collections In City Amount To $106,326.31

At the close of the fourth day of the present collection period yesterday, collection of city taxes amounted to $106,326.31, according to Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector.

Payments yesterday totalled $28,900, over $9,000 less than the $38,000 total reported Monday. A total of 14,000 tax bills were mailed to Cumberland residents June 27 after 3,500 assessment changes were made in District 4, 22 and 23, necessitating considerable work by Burke with assessment officials at the court house.

The assessment changes noted were mainly in South Cumberland, East Side and in the northern section of town as far as Bedford road. The total assessment showed a slight increase in these three districts, Burke said.

The new assessments in South Cumberland were termed a "standoff" by the tax collector, despite the fact that assessors attempted to make equitable assessments on properties previously selling at $3,000 and now being sold for $6,000 or more. The records show that in such cases, assessments were placed around $4,000.

It was necessary, however, to do some trimming in certain sections of District 4 (South Cumberland), especially in undeveloped portions of the Mapleside area, and the overall increase was "negligible," according to Burke. Slight assessment increases were noted in Districts 22 and 23.

The assessment changes in the three districts made considerable adjustment necessary in the city tax books although the city does not gain greatly due to the adjustments. A total of 3,500 new file clips were made by workers in the collectors' offices in doing the work.

Burke said his office would have the same job to perform next year since the assessors will readjust their figures in Districts 6, 5 and 15. The re-assessing is part of the state tax commission's continuous assessment program and an attempt to fix assessments at as near actual value as possible. The program is also aimed to help prevent an inflated real estate market.

Correction

A new cocktail lounge to be constructed at 28 Baltimore street will be operated as a partnership between Charles Wetzel and Herbert Cornish and will not be under the management alone of Cornish as was published in the News yesterday morning. The News regrets the error.

Theatregate Director Makes Local Debut In "Ladies In Retirement"

Last night's premiere of "Ladies in Retirement," the second production of Theatregate, featured stellar performances by Beverly Beckman, Virginia Heintz Griffith, and Erica Donovan, supported by an able cast. The play was presented before an audience of approximately 100 persons in the auditorium of the West Side school.

Miss Donovan, director of Theatregate, the recently organized Cumberland theatrical group, made her acting debut here as Miss Lenora Fiske, a retired actress who lives in a lonely house in England.

Wallace Harper, who handled the part of Albert Feather, the sisters' scapegrace nephew who tries to blackmail Ellen, and Carola Allen, who plays the part of the maid, gave good supporting performances, as did Lois Hanks, who played the part of a nun living in a priory nearby.

One of the most memorable parts of the production was the stage setting in the livingroom of the actress's house, where all the action of the play takes place. Period furniture of the Victorian era was used, adding to the realism of the play. Lighting and sound effects were excellent.

Other performances of the production are scheduled for Friday, July 5, and next Tuesday, July 9.

Two Romney Men Are Badly Hurt In Truck Crash

Vehicle Strikes Car And Then Plunges Over Embankment

Two Romney, W. Va., men were seriously injured early last evening when the pick-up truck in which they were riding crashed against a car and then plunged down an embankment on Route 50, about four miles east of Romney.

Ivan Brown, Romney, driver of the truck, was admitted to Memorial hospital here at 7:45 p. m. in a semi-conscious condition, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, a fractured jaw and abrasions and contusions about the body.

Harley Davis, also of Romney, riding with him, was admitted to the same hospital suffering from a possible fractured skull, a very deep laceration on the back of the head and possible fractures of the right collarbone and shoulder blade.

Ears Almost Severed

Attaches reported that both ears of the latter man were practically severed from the head when he was taken to surgery for treatment. His condition was reported as fair.

Trooper L. W. Kelley, who investigated for West Virginia State Police, said the accident occurred as the men were traveling east on the east side of Jersey mountain, about three and one-half miles east of Romney.

The trooper explained the road was under construction and that a watchman, maintaining one way traffic, had just stopped a car containing two marines when the Ford truck showed up.

Trooper Kelly said the driver, traveling at a rather fast rate of speed, apparently made no effort to stop the vehicle which crashed against the right side o fthe car, forcing the car before it over a 20-foot embankment.

Marines Escape Injury

The marines, who trooper Kelly said escaped unhurt in the crash, recently returned from overseas and were on their way to Quantico for re-assignment.

State police said no charges have been placed pending the outcome of the injuries of Brown, employed as a farm hand, and Davis, who is employed as a laborer at Romney. Authorities were unable to ascertain the ages of either of the injured men.

Zoning Board Rules Against Hearing Bakery's Appeal

The board of zoning appeals last night declined to hear the appeal of the Schmidt Baking Company which is seeking to use an alley off Pearre avenue as the site for construction of an addition to its plant.

The board held that the company must show that it has a right to build on the alley through condemnation proceedings before the board is able to rule on the matter from a zoning standpoint.

William A. Gunter, attorney for residents of the Pearre avenue section who are objecting to the company building on the alley, told the board that the request of the company could be compared to a Baltimore street establishment asking permission to extend its property across Baltimore street on the theory that some day the street will be closed.

The board granted the appeal of Glenn K. Davis to operate a grocery store at 222 Davidson street, and granted Paul M. Nehring permission to temporarily operate a paint shop during daylight hours only in the rear of 511 Holland street.

Miss Virginia Lippold's appeal to operate a restaurant beer and grocery business at 160 Frederick street was denied when the applicant failed to appear.

Police Accuse Man Of $1,000 Theft From VFW Club

Clarence Paugh, Kitzmiller, Faces Action Of Mineral Grand Jury

A Kitzmiller man implicated in the theft of about $1,000 from the Veterans of Foreign Wars club at Blaine, W. Va., was held in the Mineral county jail at Keyser, W. Va., last night for action of the grand jury of the July term of Mineral County court.

The man, listed by West Virginia State Police as Clarence Paugh, 31, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Shallmar by Cpl. Thomas Currie, Maryland State Police; Cpl. R. R. Karrickoff, West Virginia State Police, and Sheriff James Dixon, of Mineral county.

Authorities indicated that several more arrests are likely.

Represented Receipts

West Virginia Trooper L. E. Proudfoot who removed Paugh from the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police to Keyser after he waived extradition, said the money, some cash and some checks, represented previous business receipts of the club.

Robert Lyons, bartender at the club, brought the money to the establishment on Sunday morning in two small metal boxes. Between 11 a. m. and noon, he noticed the boxes and the money were gone from the table where he had placed them.

West Virginia police said they believe one of the suspects in the case entered the club from a doorway between it and an adjoining beer parlor, put the metal boxes in a beer case and tossed them out a rear window.

Paugh's automobile was in a "convenient" location, police said, and the money was seen in his car. Paugh, however, denies any implication in the theft.

Stolen From Hiding Place

Trooper Proudfoot said the beer case was found broken up on a hillside near Blaine where the money boxes had been buried. He added, however, that the money apparently had been stolen from its hiding place in the hill.

Paugh last night waived a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. E. Aronholt at Keyser and was held under bond of $1,000 for the grand jury's action.

Many Landlords Are Increasing Monthly Rentals

White Says 96 Protests Have Been Filed Here Since OPA Voided

Less than 48 hours after OPA regulations were voided the local office of rental control had on file 96 protests against increasing rents, some as much as 50 per cent above the monthly payments during the OPA controlled period, Caleb J. White, rental inspector for Allegany county reported yesterday.

Helpless to do anything about the surging prices, White said he would keep the office open to talk to the people and give them all the advice possible. But White summed it all up when he said, "we are helpless, there isn't one thing that we can do, to prevent all of this."

Typical of the increases was a local tenant who paid his rent yesterday for the month of July and received a receipt for the $20, with a notice on the bottom for a balance of $20. This, White explained, is not legal, but some gullible tenants will just pay without asking questions. There is a term period, according to local law that requires landlords to serve a notice of not less than the full time for which each period of rent is paid.

Increases Average $10 Monthly

One tenant from the Cresaptown area called the rent control office yesterday morning to inquire if he could do anything about the increase that his landlord has notified him would be effective the first of August. White said the man has been paying $30 a month and was notified that beginning with August his rent would be $45.

Most of the reported increases averaged $10 per month, White said, but one LaVale renter reported that his monthly rent has been "upped" from $55 to $70 per month. According to the tenant it will be effective the first of August.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pitcher, secretary in the rental control office reported "numerous" calls from landlords questioning the right to raise rents of their tenants. When they are told that the OPA no longer has control over the rents in this area their voices ring with joy, Mrs. Pitcher said, as they thank her and hang up.

One good sign in the reported complaints, according to White, is the fact that not one complaint has been received from tenants of the local real estate board, which is comprised of Cumberland's real estate dealers.

White said he has received a few calls from local landlords who are vexed over the greed shown by many of the home owners, and promises that their tenants will not have to pay more rent as long as they can possibly maintain properties with present incomes.

One of the biggest increases reported in the area was for $35 per month, when a Carroll street resident received notice yesterday that his monthly rent would be increased from $25 to $60 per month. The tenant described the property as a six room frame house which he occupies with his wife and a small daughter.

Termed Hopeless Case

White said his office was full all day Monday, with tenants who were complaining about notices of increases received from their landlords, but yesterday most of the complaints were being filed over the telephone.

"It is a hopeless case," White explained, "but we are doing all we can to assist the renting public, since we feel that we owe them that much. We are referring all cases that we possibly can to the peoples court, where local and county laws may grant them a temporary stay from the increases, but frankly that is about all we can do," White added.

Mrs. Mary Jones, head of the local office of price control, said yesterday that most of Cumberland's merchants have pledged to hold prices of all commodities at the present OPA ceiling as long as possible. This is gratifying, Mrs. Jones explained but "we can't expect too much since local prices will very shortly be subject to increases of wholesalers and manufacturers. However, for the time being local residents can rest with some sense of security, because of the commendable attitude of our merchants," Mrs. Jones said.

CAP PLANS HIGH SCHOOL CADET GROUPS

BALTIMORE, July 2—(AP)—Lt. Col. Edward R. Fenimore, commanding Maryland's wing of the Civil Air Patrol, said today the organization soon will embark on a program aimed at starting CAP cadet squadrons in the state's high schools.

Under the plan, boys and girls, 15 to 18 will be offered ground school and pre-flight training during the summer.

Fenimore said the goal is establishment of a cadet group to operate in connection with each of the CAP's squadrons. Air force reserve officers will give the instruction, for which they get credit toward promotion. The cadets themselves will receive credit for courses completed.

The Maryland wing soon will award flight scholarships worth $100 to five of the most worthy cadets now enrolled. The money will pay for sufficient flight training to enable most students to fly solo and log sevaral hours of solo flying toward a private pilot's license.

Valve Shipment Arrives

A shipment of four 24-inch cast-iron valves arrived yesterday, and installation of three of the valves on Decatur street will begin today, according to Andrew G. Bender, water superintendent. The other valve will be installed on Henderson boulevard.

Two weeks ago a short water line of 36-inch cast-iron pipe was installed on Davidson street to connect with the 24-inch line on Decatur street, Bender said. Work on Decatur street is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Work was started Monday on installing between 600 and 700 feet of six-inch cast-iron pipe on Avondale avenue to service several GI homes which are being constructed there.

Magistrate Holds Frank Sam Reid On Rape Charge

Ex-Soldier Is Held Without Bond For Washington County Court

Frank Sam Reid, 25-year-old ex-army first lieutenant, of the 300 block Green street, was held without bond for action of the November term of Washington County Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing at Clear Spring yesterday afternoon on a charge that he raped Helen Mongold, 28, 527 Broadway circle, a Cumberland laundry office worker, early last Thursday morning near Hagerstown.

Reid, who has been held in the Washington county jail at Hagerstown since last Thursday afternoon, had been charged with assault with intent to rape Miss Mongold, but the charge was changed to the more serious one of rape during the course of the proceedings conducted yesterday by Magistrate Hoss Pite.

Reid Fails To Testify

Represented by three lawyers, two from Hagerstown and one from Cumberland, Reid did not take the witness stand to refute evidence of Miss Mongold and other state witnesses.

State's Attorney Martin Ingram said Miss Mongold testified that forced intercourse took place between her and Reid. He added that Sheriff J. B. Huyett and Washington County Investigator Thomas Staubs testified that Reid admitted to them he attacked Miss Reid and had forced intercourse with her.

According to Magistrate Pite, Dr. Perry Prather, Hagerstown physician who examined Miss Mongold after the alleged attack, testified that she apparently was raped. He added that Reid, when he was examined, bore tooth prints on his arm and also was scratched.

Miss Mongold related from the witness stand in the tiny court room how she drove with Reid from Cumberland to Hagerstown. She said that she drank two or three glasses of beer, according to the magistrate, and that she refused to drink whisky that Reid tried to force on her.

Washington County Investigator Staubs testified, Magistrate Pite said, that Reid told him he had been drinking heavily.

Eye Still Bruised

Miss Mongold, who underwent treatment in Washington county hospital as a result of a beating Reid allegedly inflicted on her, appeared in court yesterday with her eye still bruised, the magistrate said.

He added that a dress Reid allegedly tore from Miss Mongold was presented in evidence at the hearing as well as towels and bed clothing from Fairview cabins where Reid and Miss Mongold were registered about 5 a. m. last Thursday.

Mrs. Stephen Sandela, one of the owners of the cabins, testified that the cabin in which Miss Mongold and Reid registered was a "mess of blood" when she went there Thursday morning, according to Magistrate Pite.

Authorities previously had reported that Reid beat Miss Mongold when she resisted his advances last Thursday and left her unconscious along the road. He later returned, they said, picked her up and drove her to Fairview cabins and registered.

Earl E. Manges, Cumberland and Charles F. Wagaman and Kenneth McLaughlin, Hagerstown, are attorneys for Reid.

The supposition was last night that attorneys for Reid will attempt to secure his release from jail on a writ of habeas corpus.

WORKSHOP FOR BLIND CAN BE SUED HERE, JUDGE DECIDES

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind can be sued in Allegany County Circuit Court and hearing in the proceedings filed by James William O'Neal, blind operator of the vending stand in the post office lobby, against the agency will be conducted later, Chief Judge William A. Huster ruled in an opinion handed down yesterday in circuit court.

O'Neal, represented by Morris Baron, filed a petition April 29 against the workshop on the grounds that the agency was trying to take control of the stand he has operated for 11 years. The workshop, in an answer, denied the local court had jurisdiction and contended that the agency was not in business in this county. The workshop asked dismissal of the action.

In his opinion Judge Huster stated that the workshop is a body corporate, created by act of the legislature, with the right to sue and be sued. The jurist also cited Article 23, Section 110 of the annotated code of Maryland, which provides that every corporation of the state and every foreign corporation subject to suit in the state may be sued in any county or the city of Baltimore, as the case may be, where its principal office in this state is located or where it regularly does business.

James A. Close, Local Printer, Dies Suddenly

Times And Alleganian Company Employe Leaves Meeting Because Of Pain

James A. Close, 50, 308 Harrison street, a printer and assistant night foreman of the Times and Alleganian Company, where he learned his trade and had been steadily employed since a boy of 13, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock at his home.

Mr. Close worked Monday night as usual, and yesterday afternoon, attended a meeting of the Allied Printing Trades Council at Trades Council hall on Frederick street, as a delegate of the Typographical union. During the meeting, he went to the door to get some air, but insisted he was not ill. At 2:45 p. m. however, he asked to be excused, saying he was not sick, but had a little pain in his arm.

Goes To His Room

After arriving home, he went directly to his room, without saying anything to any member of the family, Mrs. Close heard him cough and moan and ran to him. She summoned a physician who came immediately, but Mr. Close died, apparently from a heart attack, in a matter of minutes.

He was an active member of Cumberland Local No. 244, Typographical Union of which he was a past president and over a period of years had held other offices. He was chairman of the union's Memorial committee for the present term. He was also a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, and St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

He came to Cumberland as a boy. Soon afterwards he became interested in printing and persuaded his parents to let him learn the trade. He started to work on the Cumberland Times, before he was 14, and remained a loyal employee of the company, the rest of his lifetime.

Admitted to Union in 1914

In the composing room, where the printers' names and numbers appear on a board, Mr. Close's tag shows his name and bears the date of his admittance to the Typographical Union as January 1, 1914. His tag number, which indicates his seniority in the shop, is No. 3. While a comparative young man, he was one of the oldest employes in years of service, and he was regarded by his fellow craftsman as a hard worker and an able and experienced printer. He was known to them and all his friends as "Jimmy."

In recent years, he had been assistant foreman of the shop and foreman of the ad alley.

Survivors Listed

Murray Close, he is survived by two sons and one daughter, Wilbur William Close, his eldest son followed his father into the printing trades and is associated with the Mountain Democrat in Oakland. Celanese Plans For War II Vets Outlined To VFW

Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars dispensed with the usual business meeting last night and heard an outline of the Celanese Corporation of America's program for bettering conditions for the returning veterans by A. Florian Wilson, veterans' representative at the local plant.

Wilson cited the many opportunities opened for the returning veterans at the Celanese and gave specific examples of the work they are doing.

Following the speaking program 13 new members were initiated and James K. Kloran, junior vice commander was appointed to deliver the monthly radio address July 11 over the local station on "Speak Up for Democracy."

James L. Thrasher, senior vice commander, said the housing committee will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Union street home.

The building committee is expected to meet next week to discuss further plans for purchasing a lot on South Centre street across from the state armory as a site for the new home.

The local post has had a phenomenal growth since V-J day, and officers admitted the membership is expected to grow rapidly for several months. If this is true, members said, the organization's present home would be inadequate.

The lot considered is owned by Mrs. W. W. Brown and has a 50 foot frontage with 150 feet depth.

MACARONI EMPLOYES REJECT WAGE OFFER

Prospects for an early resumption of production at the Cumberland Macaroni Company plant here dimmed last evening when members of Local 1132, Macaroni Workers, CIO, rejected a company offer of an eight cents an hour wage increase.

J. L. McDermott, union president, reported all but three or four of the union members turned down the offer which would have frozen wages until April 1, 1947.

The union official said the union is insisting on a 10 cent hourly wage boost with a thirty-day reopening clause or a 15 cent increase if wages are to be frozen until the contract expires June 1, 1947. Workers at the Thomas street plant struck June 7 as a result of the wage dispute.

Several Technicalities Involved In Raising Rents, Lewis Asserts

Edgar M. Lewis, chief clerk of peoples court, gave a chuckle yesterday as he lay down his pencil after interviewing the 26th local landlord on the subject of increasing rent now that the OPA no longer has control over such matters.

It's all very well, explained Lewis, and there isn't one thing that we can do to prevent rent increases, even if they want to triple the present sum, but there are a few technicalities that will hold most rents at present levels until the first of September, anyway.

"We have received several notices from landlords that they want to increase the rents immediately . . . some even want to jump the price for the present month after already collecting for July, but it can't be done and any tenant who seeks legal protection can feel sure that one more pay term will pay with the present rates still in effect," Lewis said.

The word "term" is the thing that is going to stop a lot of greedy landlords from jumping in and increasing rents before OPA is cold, Lewis explained. It works something like this:

Must Give Term Notice

"If a tenant has already paid his rent for July, and most monthly renters have, the landlord will have to give them a full term of notice before they can increase the rent. That means that September 1 will be the first period following a full term of rent since OPA has been voided," Lewis explained.

Of course, with weekly renters the setup will work a little differently, since the term of tenancy will be only for a week instead of for a month as is the case for those who are paying monthly.

"Take the case of a man who just left here," Lewis said. "He collected rent yesterday for his apartment and then today he notified the tenant that he rent would be increased effective next Monday. That tenant isn't going to pay the increase next Monday . . .not if he is acquainted with local law, because next Monday will not be a full pay

Dorothy Mallow, 17, Flintstone, was treated yesterday morning in Allegany hospital for burns about the arm and both legs. She said she spilled hot tar on herself.

Tax Collections In City Amount To $106,326.31

At the close of the fourth day of the present collection period yesterday, collection of city taxes amounted to $106,326.31, according to Charles F. Burke, Jr., city tax collector.

Payments yesterday totalled $28,900, over $9,000 less than the $38,000 total reported Monday. A total of 14,000 tax bills were mailed to Cumberland residents June 27 after 3,500 assessment changes were made in District 4, 22 and 23, necessitating considerable work by Burke with assessment officials at the court house.

The assessment changes noted were mainly in South Cumberland, East Side and in the northern section of town as far as Bedford road. The total assessment showed a slight increase in these three districts, Burke said.

The new assessments in South Cumberland were termed a "stand-off" by the tax collector, despite the fact that assessors attempted to make equitable assessments on properties previously selling at $3,000 and now being sold for $6,000 or more. The records sifow that in such cases, assessments were placed around $4,000.

It was necessary, however, to do some trimming in certain sections of District 4 (South Cumberland), especially in undeveloped portions of the Mapleside area, and the overall increase was "negligible," according to Burke. Slight assessment increases were noted in Districts 22 and 23.

The assessment changes in the three districts made considerable adjustment necessary in the city tax books although the city does not gain greatly due to the adjustments. A total of 3,500 new file clips were made by workers in the collectors' offices in doing the work.

Burke said his office would have the same job to perform next year since the assessors will readjust their figures in Districts 6, 5 and 15. The re-assessing is part of the state tax commission's continuous assessment program and an attempt to fix assessments at as near actual value as possible. The program is also aimed to help prevent an inflated real estate market.

Theatregate Director Makes Local Debut In "Ladies In Retirement"

Last night's premiere of "Ladies in Retirement," the second production of Theatregate, featured stellar performances by Beverly Beckman, Virginia Heintz Griffith, and Erica Donovan, supported by an able cast. The play was presented before an audience of approximately 100 persons in the auditorium of the West Side school.

Miss Donovan, director of Theatregate, the recently organized Cumberland theatrical group, made her acting debut here as Miss Lenora Fiske, a retired actress who lives in a lonely house in England.

The play centers around a plot of the actress's companion, Ellen Creed, to murder her because the actress threatens to send Ellen's two demented sisters back to London.

Beverly Beckman, as the companion, turned in a bit of superb dramatic acting which contributed scenes of suspense and terror as the play neared its climax. Virginia Heintz Griffith, who played Emily, Creed, one of the demented sisters who discovers Ellen's scheme, handled her part with a fine sense of timing and humor.

Wallace Harper, who handled the part of Albert Feather, the sisters' scapegrace nephew who tries to blackmail Ellen, and Carola Allen, who plays the part of the maid, gave good supporting performances, as did Lois Hanks, who played the part of a nun living in a priory nearby.

One of the most memorable parts of the production was the stage setting in the livingroom of the actress's house, where all the action of the play takes place. Period furniture of the Victorian era was used, adding to the realism of the play. Lighting and sound effects were excellent.

Other performances of the production are scheduled for Friday, July 5, and next Tuesday, July 9.

Vehicle Strikes Car And Then Plunges Over Embankment

Two Romney, W. Va., men were seriously injured early last evening when the pick-up truck in which they were riding crashed against a car and then plunged down an embankment on Route 50, about four miles east of Romney.

Ivan Brown, Romney, driver of the truck, was admitted to Memorial hospital here at 7:45 p. m. in a semi-conscious condition, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, a fractured jaw and abrasions and contusions about the body.

Harley Davis, also of Romney, riding with him, was admitted to the same hospital suffering from a possible fractured skull, a very deep laceration on the back of the head and possible fractures of the right collarbone and shoulder blade.

Ears Almost Severed

Attaches reported that both ears of the latter man were practically severed from the head when he was taken to surgery for treatment. His condition was reported as fair.

Trooper L. W. Kelley, who investigated for West Virginia State Police, said the accident occurred as the men were traveling east on the east side of Jersey mountain, about three and one-half miles east of Romney.

The trooper explained the road was under construction and that a watchman, maintaining one way traffic, had just stopped a car containing two marines when the Ford truck showed up.

Trooper Kelly said the driver, traveling at a rather fast rate of speed, apparently made no effort to stop the vehicle which crashed against the right side o fthe car, forcing the car before it over a 20-foot embankment.

Marines Escape Injury

The marines, who trooper Kelly said escaped unhurt in the crash, recently returned from overseas and were on their way to Quantico for re-assignment.

State police added that it was necessary to pull the truck away from the car before Davis could be extricated from the truck.

State police said no charges have been placed pending the outcome of the injuries of Brown, employed as a farm hand, and Davis, who is employed as a laborer at Romney. Authorities were unable to ascertain the ages of either of the injured men.

Zoning Board Rules Against Hearing Bakery's Appeal

The board of zoning appeals last night declined to hear the appeal of the Schmidt Baking Company which is seeking to use an alley off Pearre avenue as the site for construction of an addition to its plant.

The board held that the company must show that it has a right to build on the alley through condemnation proceedings before the board is able to rule on the matter from a zoning standpoint.

William A. Gunter, attorney for residents of the Pearre avenue section who are objecting to the company building on the alley, told the board that the request of the company could be compared to a Baltimore street establishment asking permission to extend its property across Baltimore street on the theory that some day the street will be closed.

The board granted the appeal of Glenn K. Davis to operate a grocery store at 222 Davidson street, and granted Paul M. Nehring permission to temporarily operate a paint shop during daylight hours only in the rear of 511 Holland street.

Miss Virginia Lippold's appeal to operate a restaurant beer and grocery business at 160 Frederick street was denied when the applicant failed to appear.

Police Accuse Man Of $1,000 Theft From VFW Club

Clarence Paugh, Kitzmiller, Faces Action Of Mineral Grand Jury

A Kitzmiller man implicated in the theft of about $1,000 from the Veterans of Foreign Wars club at Blaine, W. Va., was held in the Mineral county jail at Keyser, W. Va., last night for action of the grand jury of the July term of Mineral County court.

The man, listed by West Virginia State Police as Clarence Paugh, 31, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Shallmar by Cpl. Thomas Currie, Maryland State Police; Cpl. R. R. Karrickoff, West Virginia State Police, and Sheriff James Dixon, of Mineral county.

Represented Receipts

West Virginia Trooper L. E. Proudfoot who removed Paugh from the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police to Keyser after he waived extradition, said the money, some cash and some checks, represented previous business receipts of the club.

Robert Lyons, bartender at the club, brought the money to the establishment on Sunday morning in two small metal boxes. Between 11 a. m. and noon, he noticed the boxes and the money were gone from the table where he had placed them.

West Virginia police said they believe one of the suspects in the case entered the club from a doorway between it and an adjoining beer parlor, put the metal boxes in a beer case and tossed them out a rear window.

Paugh's automobile was in a "convenient" location, police said, and the money was seen in his car. Paugh, however, denies any implication in the theft.

Stolen From Hiding Place

Trooper Proudfoot said the beer case was found broken up on a hillside near Blaine where the money boxes had been buried. He added, however, that the money apparently had been stolen from its hiding place in the hill.

Paugh last night waived a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. E. Aronholt at Keyser and was held under bond of $1,000 for the grand jury's action.

Many Landlords Are Increasing Monthly Rentals

White Says 96 Protests Have Been Filed Here Since OPA Voided

Less than 48 hours after OPA regulations were voided the local office of rental control had on file 96 protests against increasing rents, some as much as 50 per cent above the monthly payments during the OPA controlled period, Caleb J. White, rental inspector for Allegany county reported yesterday.

Helpless to do anything about the surging prices, White said he would keep the office open to talk to the people and give them all the advice possible. But White summed it all up when he said, "we are helpless, there isn't one thing that we can do, to prevent all of this."

Typical of the increases was a local tenant who paid his rent yesterday for the month of July and received a receipt for the $20, with a notice on the bottom for a balance of $20. This, White explained, is not legal, but some gullible tenants will just pay without asking questions. There is a term period, according to local law that requires landlords to serve a notice of not less than the full time for which each period of rent is paid.

Increases Average $10 Monthly

One tenant from the Cresaptown area called the rent control office yesterday morning to inquire if he could do anything about the increase that his landlord has notified him would be effective the first of August. White said the man has been paying $30 a month and was notified that beginning with August his rent would be $45.

Most of the reported increases averaged $10 per month, White said, but one LaVale renter reported that his monthly rent has been "upped" from $55 to $70 per month. Accordingto the tenant it will be effective the first of August.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pitcher, secretary in the rental control office reported "numerous" calls from landlords questioning the right to raise rents of their tenants. When they are told that the OPA no longer has control over the rents in this area their voices ring with joy, Mrs. Pitcher said, as they thank her and hang up.

One good sign in the reported complaints, according to White, is the fact that not one complaint has been received from tenants of the local real estate board, which is comprised of Cumberland's real estate dealers.

White said he has received a few calls from local landlords who are vexed over the greed shown by many of the home owners, and promises that their tenants will not have to pay more rent as long as they can possibly maintain properties with present incomes.

One of the biggest increases reported in the area was for $35 per month, when a Carroll street resident received notice yesterday that his monthly rent would be increased from $25 to $60 per month. The tenant described the property as a six room frame house which he occupies with his wife and a small daughter.

Termed Hopeless Case

White said his office was full all day Monday, with tenants who were complaining about notices of increases received from their landlords, but yesterday most of the complaints were being filed over the telephone.

"It is a hopeless case," White explained, "but we are doing all we can to assist the renting public, since we feel that we owe them that much. We are referring all cases that we possibly can to the peoples court, where local and county laws may grant them a temporary stay from the increases, but frankly that is about all we can do," White added.

Mrs. Mary Jones, head of the local office of price control, said yesterday that most of Cumberland's merchants have pledged to hold prices of all commodities at the present OPA ceiling as long as possible. This is gratifying, Mrs. Jones explained but "we can't expect too much since local prices will very shortly be subject to increases of wholesalers and manufacturers. However, for the time being local residents can rest with some sense of security, because of the commendable attitude of our merchants," Mrs. Jones said.

CAP PLANS HIGH SCHOOL CADET GROUPS

BALTIMORE, July 2—(AP)—Lt. Col. Edward R. Fenimore, commanding Maryland's wing of the Civil Air Patrol, said today the organization soon will embark on a program aimed at starting CAP cadet squadrons in the state's high schools.

Under the plan, boys and girls, 15 to 18 will be offered ground school and pre-flight training during the summer.

Fenimore said the goal is establishment of a cadet group to operate in connection with each of the CAP's squadrons. Air force reserve officers will give the instruction, for which they get credit toward promotion. The cadets themselves will receive credit for courses completed.

The Maryland wing soon will award flight scholarships worth $100 to five of the most worthy cadets now enrolled. The money will pay for sufficient flight training to enable most students to fly solo and log sevaral hours of solo flying toward a private pilot's license.

Valve Shipment Arrives

A shipment of four 24-inch cast-iron valves arrived yesterday, and installation of three of the valves on Decatur street will begin today, according to Andrew G. Bender, water superintendent. The other valve will be installed on Henderson boulevard.

Two weeks ago a short water line of 36-inch cast-iron pipe was installed on Davidson street to connect with the 24-inch line on Decatur street, Bender said. Work on Decatur street is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Work was started Monday on installing between 600 and 700 feet of six-inch cast-iron pipe on Avondale avenue to service several GI homes which are being constructed there.
